IROQUOIS IS HARD ASHORE

Steering Apparatus Jams and Ferry Ship Piles Up in Inner Harbor

Passengers and Baggage Removed; Hundreds View Unusual Spectacle

Jamming of her steering gear, when she swung to starboard to pass the Canadian fisheries patrol steamer Malaspina off Laurel Point in the Inner Harbor this morning shortly after 9 o'clock, the ferry steamer Iroquois, outbound for Seattle, ran ashore on the rocky bottom near the Union Oil Company's plant on the Industrial Reserve. She grounded on a falling tide, and at low water this afternoon was in an unusual position, with her bow high and dry on the beach and her stern in deep water. The dozen passengers aboard were removed within an hour by a tugboat. There were five deportees from Canada aboard.

Tugboats, tied up at wharves in the harbor, rushed to assist the stranded ship. The Hopkins and Respond were the first alongside and put lines aboard, but they pulled without success. The tugs Spray and Burrard Chief were next on the scene, followed thirty minutes later by the powerful salvage ship Salvage King.

LIGHTER SHIP

Salvage officials deemed it unwise to attempt any salvage operations until high tide to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock. Lightening of the ship's gear and her fuel oil was started this morning. With the ship heavy, it was feared she might break her back at low tide, this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the water fell to under three feet. It was believed the ship was badly holed and any attempt to pull her off at low water to-day would only tear her bottom. The harbor bottom is rocky at that point.

Capt. William Van Bogart, veteran master of the Iroquois, who has been in and out of Victoria hundreds of times, ordered the passengers removed to shore soon after the ship struck. The tug Hopkins went alongside and the passengers and their baggage were put aboard her and returned to the C.P.R. docks. Mail was also taken off and with the passengers will go to Seattle this afternoon by the St. Princess Alice.

The wind was blowing in gusts, at forty miles an hour at the time the Iroquois grounded, but it was stated the elements had nothing to do with the mishap. The Salvage King, after a trip to the outer wharf for gear, anchored nearby, from where W. G. Jordan, superintendent for the Pacific Salvage Company, conducted the salvage operations. He thought the ship would probably come off on the high tide in the morning. High tide this morning was at 7:50 o'clock, when the

War Threat Told of By Japanese General

U.S., Russia and China Preparing Moves For 1935, in Opinion of Maj.-Gen. F. Tojo of War Office

By Glen Babb, Associated Press Foreign Staff Writer

Tokio, Feb. 7.—That Japan's neighbors, the United States, Russia and China, "knowing Japan is likely to be confronted with various international difficulties in November, 1935, are steadily preparing for war," was the statement attributed to-day to Major-General Eiki Tojo, chief of the War Office's military investigation bureau.

The general was so quoted in an interview which appeared in the newspaper Yomiuri.

The reference was not explained, but the conclusion was drawn that the nation must unite in order to perfect the Japanese empire's defenses.

General Tojo's bureau is in charge of the War Office press contacts. "Japan's desire for expansion on the eastern Asiatic continent, manifested in her Manchurian policy, has been her unalterable policy since her foundation," the paper quoted him.

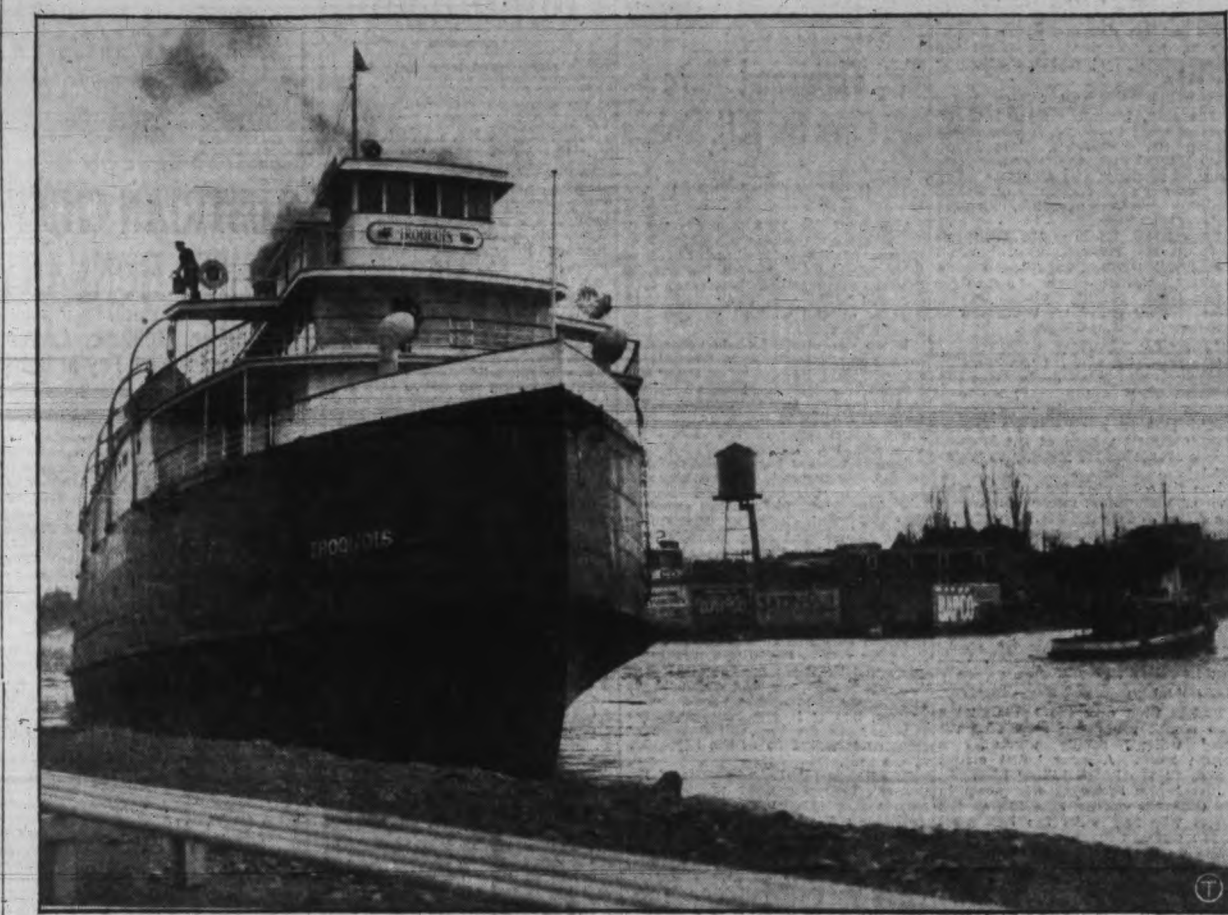

STRONG PRESSURE

"Japan should maintain strong pressure on the continent. Only such can she keep at bay the Soviet's attempts to advance into the Orient."

"Japan's choice is whether she will be permanently shut up in the small islands or take the road to promising development."

"We must work out our programme without giving other nations a chance to thwart us."

HELD FAST BY ROCKY LEDGE IN INNER HARBOR

The ferry steamer Iroquois is shown in the above picture hard and fast aground in the Inner Harbor, off the Industrial Reserve. No attempt to haul the ship free will be made until high tide to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock. The St. Salvage King will attempt to float her at that hour. The Iroquois piled up when her steering gear jammed early this morning.

Mayor Sees No Sign Of Mill Rate Slash; Expects Budget Rise

BRITISH-SOVIET TRADE TREATY

London, Feb. 7.—An Anglo-Soviet trade agreement is expected to be signed in London in about a week, it was learned to-day at the Foreign Office.

It will be a general treaty covering all phases of trade relations. Russian and British officials now are in daily contact arranging the text in both languages.

When the City Council takes up the estimates for 1934, it will face an increase of $200,000, representing approximately four and three-quarter mills, over the requirements of 1933, according to present indications, Mayor Leeming stated to-day.

The idea of meeting this increase through higher taxation was declared unthinkable by the mayor. He regarded favorably a plan to secure greater government assistance by removal of the costs of social services and the restoration of government grants. Another course, which he deemed very dangerous financing, lay in non-payment into the sinking fund. In a statement issued this morning, Mayor Leeming summarized the situation as follows:

"To correct a false impression which may have arisen in the minds of the public regarding a reduction of three mills in the mill rate, the facts of the case are the budget for 1934 is still in the hands of the comptroller and has not yet been completed or released."

"Indications are that after making provision for the use of the surplus in the sinking fund, and refunding serial debentures to the extent of $231,100—the largest refunding move yet undertaken by the city—the council will be faced by an increase of $200,000 over the requirements of 1933. This sum roughly represents four and three-quarter mills."

WHEAT POLICIES ARE DECLARED BLUNDERS

Hon. W. R. Motherwell Wants McFarland Operations Fully Reported to Commons; Says Acreage Restriction Is Mistake

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—"One blunder after another. One tragedy after another," is the way Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Liberal M.P. for Melville, Sask., describes the Bennett government's wheat policy.

During the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne in the Commons yesterday evening John I. McFarland and his wheat stabilization efforts on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange took the spotlight. Mr. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, demanded a detailed statement of McFarland's dealings, which he claimed had resulted in lowered prices and the largest carryover in Canada's history.

Discussing the international wheat agreement signed in London, Mr.

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON LOSES

London, Feb. 7.—The United States dollar depreciated here to-day in relation to the pound sterling to the lowest point since President Roosevelt's devaluation move, closing at $5.01, a net loss of 4 1/2 cents to the pound.

Strong selling in connection with gold purchases was a weakening influence until the afternoon, when a relaxation of pressure was accompanied by buying for trade and other purposes.

At a conservative estimate there were 10,000, or nearly 20 per cent more cars on the road in British Columbia during January this year against the same month in 1933.

General Election Is Expected Soon

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Paris, Feb. 7.—President Albert Lebrun called former President Gaston Doumergue to head the French government to-day and, it was understood, prepared a decree whereby M. Doumergue could dissolve Parliament.

Dissolution of Parliament would be followed by a general election.

Four more persons died deaths of mob violence to-day as Premier Edouard Daladier and his cabinet resigned and President Albert Lebrun called on the former President to guide France through one of the most alarming crises in her history.

TEN DEATHS

The four deaths to-day brought the official list of dead to ten persons, the government having announced six were killed yesterday evening. One of yesterday's victims was a woman.

Hospital to-day held 182 of the riot-injured; 282 more were treated in hospitals, then sent home. M. Lebrun requested Gaston Doumergue, seventy, to come from his retirement in the south of France and form a new cabinet. M. Doumergue accepted the charge.

His appointment to the duty of reorganizing the government came shortly after Edouard Daladier, the fifth Premier in exactly a year, had resigned his post and taken his cabinet with him into political oblivion.

MENACE CONTINUES

Menacing crowds thronged streets of the capital when the Daladier cabinet resigned early this afternoon.

President Lebrun accepted their resignations and tendered the premiership immediately to M. Doumergue, former President of France, but M. Doumergue at first refused the post.

The President then talked with Louis Barthou, but apparently M. Barthou felt unable to construct a ministry.

Some time later it was announced M. Doumergue had consented to seek a cabinet.

LONG CONFERENCE

M. Daladier announced his decision to withdraw from the government after a night-long conference with President Lebrun, while police and city officials checked the toll of mob violence.

M. Daladier's decision to resign came as crowds gathered again in the streets and it appeared there was a possibility of more bloodshed in further rioting.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull received a report on conditions in Paris by telephone to-day from Ambassador J. I. Sweeney at the United States embassy.

DOLLAR 99 1/2 ON EXCHANGE

New York, Feb. 7.—The Canadian dollar was barely steady on the foreign exchange market here to-day while sterling and the French franc scored moderate advances.

The Dominion dollar opened firm but turned easy later. It closed at 3/4 of a cent discount, down 1-1/2. Sterling crossed the $5 line at the opening, but eased around mid-day. The final rate was $4.99 1/2, up 2 1/2 cents.

The French franc, closing at 6.35 1/2 cents, was up .04 1/2 of a cent.

FRENCH CITY RIOTS SPREAD

As Mobs Fight in Paris, Crowds in Other Towns Clash With Police

Paris, Feb. 7.—The disorders of yesterday evening and to-day, which was the worst in Paris since the revolution of 1870, spread outside the capital to-day.

Rioting on a smaller scale was started by Royalists in the provincial cities. At Lille, Nantes and Nancy, mounted gendarmes had to be summoned to disperse the mob.

At Lyons, several thousand men and women hooting Premier Edouard Daladier choked the main streets. Veterans protested the dismissal of Paris police prefect Jean Chappelle in other cities, but without rioting.

To-day thousands were nursing minor hurts, from 100 to 200 were injured seriously.

MANY WOUNDED

Over 400 were reported wounded in the Paris disorders yesterday evening.

BYRD SHIP HEADS FOR NEW ZEALAND

Associated Press

Aboard Admiral Byrd's flagship, Antarctica, Feb. 6 (Delayed) (Via MacKay Radio).—The flagship of the Byrd Antarctic expedition sailed from the Bay of Whales shortly before noon to-day bound for New Zealand, where she will be laid up for a year.

The flagship is scheduled to return in December or January to take on the winter party.

Several members of the crew remained behind to aid in completing the job of moving stores from the unloading docks on the bay to the permanent camp. They expected to go north when the Bear of Oakland, supply ship, sails.

Paris, Feb. 7.—On every Paris billboard this morning appeared a new decree signed by M. Bonnet-Sibour, the new prefect of police, forbidding all parades and demonstrations both in Paris and the department of the Seine.

Accounts to-day differed over who fired the first shot in the great Riots yesterday. Authorities claimed the police and mounted guards were attacked by men armed with revolvers and knives. Police claim they fired only under great provocation, and not until after they had sent warning shots over the heads of the crowd.

Demonstrators who were in the thick of the fights were equally insistent the police fired first.

Bonfires Set As Darkness Falls

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Paris, Feb. 7.—As darkness fell on Paris this evening great bonfires like those of a bivouacked army burst into being among the trees on the Place de la Concorde.

The flickering flames cast struggling shadows in long lines across the square as the rioters and the police milled in tumult.

The temper of the mobs steadily grew uglier as darkness became more intense. They were composed mainly of workmen with a large mixture of Communists marching and singing and fighting beside them.

The steel-helmeted mobile guards carried rifles, but up till 6 p.m. they had done no shooting. They were showered relentlessly with bottles, stones and slugs of iron.

DAY OF RIOTING

Paris, Feb. 7.—Gaston Doumergue agreed to-day to become Premier in an effort to calm a rioting France.

The riots continued, with mobs parading the boulevards.

Violence broke out in the Place de la Concorde, around the President's Palace, around the Madeleine Church, and down the Rue Royale leading into the Place de la Concorde.

The attempt to change governments, although political observers thought it would succeed, did not appease the fighting spirit of the mobs.

POLICE CHARGE

Sabres flashed as mounted guardsmen charged against the angered crowds in the Place de la Concorde.

In other open spaces of the city mobile guardsmen and police were in hand-to-hand combat with the shouting civilians.

The list of injured gained steadily, and private cars were pressed into duty as ambulances.

HORSES GALLOP ABOUT

Horses of the guards, many of them riderless, plunged madly through the confusion of the Place de la Concorde. Hailways and corners of buildings surrounding the square were packed by persons seeking shelter.

The apparent hostility of the crowds increased steadily.

The Tirailleurs of the Marine Ministry, which the mob set off yesterday evening, was turned into a barracks.

PARIS HAS ITS OWN CIVIL WAR

Paris, Feb. 7.—"A day of civil war," Le Matin described yesterday evening's riots in Paris, in black headlines sweeping its front page to-day.

This morning every little group on the boulevards talked of the battle on the famous square which by sinister irony bears the name "Concord."

As they talked fresh disorders were in the making.

Paris, Feb. 7.—On every Paris billboard this morning appeared a new decree signed by M. Bonnet-Sibour, the new prefect of police, forbidding all parades and demonstrations both in Paris and the department of the Seine.

Wheat Policies Are Declared Blunders

Motherwell said it was another mistake on the part of the government. As Russia had refused to submit to an export quota, that country had the power to flood the world market at any time.

Yesterday in the Commons western Canada day in some respects he practically all the speakers in the debate were from the prairies. P. W. Turnbull, Conservative, Regina, made the statement that the people of the prairies could judge the McFarland operations.

KENNEDY'S VIEWS

D. M. Kennedy, United Farmer member for Peace River, the northern Alberta community where Herman Treble grew his world championship wheat after year, endorsed the McFarland agreement. He said the government was confronted with a national necessity. For his part he was tired of raising wheat and giving it away or selling it as a loss.

MARKETING LEGISLATION

Mr. Motherwell, the first speaker, said he would support the proposed marketing legislation if it were passed after the British Marketing Act of 1931, but the government had been derelict in not supporting the Co-operative Livestock Association or the purpose of improving exports and for reducing the grant to this association in 1931.

"Blunders" of the government were and early this morning. These were counted through hospitals where 182 lay injured, some expected to die.

BUILDING WRECKED

The mob, including massed thousands of angry Parisians, furious at the government over the Stavisky Pawnshop scandal and generally restive because of financial and economic pressure, set fire to the Ministry of Finance building yesterday evening, wrecking the ground floor.

They fired pistols and battled bitterly in the series of light or bonfire-fueled with wrecked newspaper stands, comfort stations—even automobiles rolled from parking places in the street. They broke through the barricades in the famous Champs Elysees.

THREAT OF RENEWAL

The Royalists, who led the bloodiest charges in the Place de la Concorde, declared they would start all over again to-day if the government's instructions to bring charges against Charles Maurras, head of the Royalist Action Francaise, for inciting to "murder."

The riots, brewing for months after the comparatively minor clashes of ten days ago over the Stavisky scandal, reached their peak between 7 o'clock yesterday evening and midnight in the magnificent Place de la Concorde, where the guillotine once stood.

Machine guns went into action at 7.15 p.m. from the steps of the Chamber of Deputies, led by Royalists, smashed police lines at the bridge head leading to the Chamber, then still in session.

MAID KILLED

Bullets fired over the heads of the mob shot the upper stories of the Hotel Crillon, fatally wounding a French maid. A stray bullet struck a man in the heart, killing him.

Just before midnight a group in the Concorde opened rifle fire at the rioters who had built the barricades in the Champs Elysees.

The mobs surged back again and again, charging with the Chamber of Deputies, running pistol fight at midnight. Police, firing from their hips, drove the panic-stricken throng of men and women across the Concorde, and many were trapped in a murderous crush before the Madeleine church.

Men and women, struck by police bullets, dropped and were trampled under the flying feet of their terror-stricken companions.

Hundreds, crushed against the barred door of the fashionable Hotel Crillon, pleaded for admittance and finally got in.

GAS TORCHES

Along the Rue de Rivoli, lamp posts were smashed and flaming gas blazed from the broken pipes, casting wild shadows in the Tuilleries gardens.

Half-a-dozen fires, fed by flaming automobiles, park benches, saplings and debris, blazed for hours in the middle of the streets.

On the Rue Royale side, the ground floor of the Ministry of Marine was wrecked.

So serious did the situation become that two companies of the 23rd regiment of Colonial Infantry were ordered to occupy the ministry of the Interior.

OFFICIALS BEATEN

Numerous French officials were among those beaten and injured. Senator Gasson Menier was kicked and beaten by the mob.

Former Premier Edouard Herriot narrowly missed the same treatment.

Premier Daladier issued a statement to the press, in which he said he was repeatedly excited and tried to attack by force the republican regime.

Bands armed with revolvers attacked the police and the mob. The police were ordered to fire on the mob.

MIXED MOB

The mob was made up of extremists, Bolsheviks and Communists, the latter normally bitter enemies of the Royalists. War veterans—demonstrating against the dismissal of Police Prefect Jeanneney—were also present.

Police attempted to disperse some of the marching units and there were brief battles.

Earlier, thousands jammed into the square in front of the Bourse, and trading had to be suspended because of their deafening cries "Assassins! Vive Chippelle!"

Police had to retreat and watch powerlessly while the crowd waved its hands and sang the Marseillaise. Shouts of the crowd showed the popularity of Jean Chippelle, former prefect of police of Paris, whom Premier Daladier discharged.

After Advancing For Weeks, Stocks Run Into Obstacles and Prices Slip

New York, Feb. 7.—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange to-day experienced their sharpest setback since November.

After moving forward without serious interruption for several weeks, the market encountered heavy waves of selling, which depressed leading issues $1 to $4 a share.

Transfers approximated 4,500,000 shares, and the ticker at times fell in arrears.

The Chicago wheat market also turned reactionary, with prices losing about two cents a bushel.

Ten Thousand More Cars On B.C. Roads

The total for 1934 is made up of 55,057 sticker licenses mailed free to holders in 1933, plates and 12,183 to those who paid one-sixth licenses for the first two months. Last year's total included 34,921 who had paid their licenses in full and 22,078 who had interim permits.

While the comparison is not on an exactly equal basis, since there is no way of telling how many of those who received free stickers are operating their cars, it is fairly safe to say that except for those tied up by weather conditions, the great majority of the remainder were running.

This is further borne out by charts on new car registrations and renewal of licenses. The figures for the first half of the year show a marked improvement over the previous year.

It was pointed out, however, that when the renewal for the full year became due at the end of this month, the true comparison will be revealed. Everyone of the 65,210 cars now operating will be liable for full year's fees at that time, and there is no doubt some will be laid up for a month or two, but it is the belief that the great majority of them will not be so great as it would be at the beginning of the year.

In order to facilitate issuance of the licenses, Inspector Hood pointed out owners may receive their plates by mail at a cost of ten cents for postage. It will be physically impossible to get the plates by mail in a few days if it is all left to the last minute.

the most redoubtable members of the mob. In Spanish Mr. Whittaker unseated former Premier Daladier in a gallant battle. He is widely known, not only in his riding, but also in the city. He is making his debut in the Legislature.

Mr. Daladier, who has been the man in the street has got the idea of the Chamber of Deputies is a nest of dishonest politicians serving their own interests.

By an odd twist of reasoning even Shakespeare's Coriolanus becomes identified with the patriots. The last time the chief of the mob, the chief of the Comedie Francaise, was greeted with rapturous applause. To-night the house of Molere will play Coriolanus again, and for the moment Paris has taken to his heart that Roman who has such contempt for the ways of politicians he would not flatter Neptune for his trident.

Vancouver, Feb. 7.—Recounting the formation of the Okanagan Stabilization Board for regulating and restricting the 1933 apple crop, Major Michael Vincent McGuire of Vernon, B.C., was a witness in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Murphy here to-day.

The plaintiff has been a fruit grower in the Okanagan Valley for twenty years.

The defendant attacks the validity of the pooling contracts, which were made with the Okanagan Valley for twenty years.

He is suing the Crestland Fruit Co. Ltd. of Penticton for $10,157, levies allegedly due under a contract entered into with the board last September.

The trial promises to occupy two days at least.

"CANNED HEAT" WENT TO HEAD

Canadian Press
Nanaimo, Feb. 7.—Pound guilty of driving his car while under the influence of liquor, Jimmy Bob, a Nanaimo Indian, was sentenced to seven days in jail. In imposing the minimum sentence, the magistrate censured the man who supplied "canned heat" to the Indian.

Jimmy said he had one drink which, according to evidence, made him intoxicated. He piled his car in a ditch near the Quartermaster Hotel on the Island Highway. Both Jimmy Bob and Freddie Ambrose sustained painful head injuries in the crash.

After moving forward without serious interruption for several weeks, the market encountered heavy waves of selling, which depressed leading issues $1 to $4 a share.

Transfers approximated 4,500,000 shares, and the ticker at times fell in arrears.

The Chicago wheat market also turned reactionary, with prices losing about two cents a bushel.

IROQUOIS IS HARD ASHORE

water was nine feet, two inches. It fell steadily all morning, as the ship gradually took a list, with her bow well up. She had taken no water.

Within half an hour of the grounding hundreds of people were on the Industrial Reserve to view the unusual sight. So dense was traffic over the Johnson Street bridge that several police officers were ordered to control points along the harbor, and from office buildings in the city, hundreds viewed the stranded ship with the salvage ship and the tugs clustered about her.

The Iroquois was on the same point where the Ss. Queen City struck some years ago and where the Ss. City of Victoria ran aground for a brief time in 1928. It is right at the bottle-necked entrance to the harbor.

One of the veteran ships of the Pacific Northwest, the Iroquois was thoroughly rebuilt and overhauled in Seattle in 1930, and since that time has been on the Victoria-Port Angeles run of the Puget Sound Navigation Company. She was built in 1901 at the Craig Shipbuilding plant, Toledo, Ohio, and is registered at 1,767 tons, with a length of 214 feet, a beam of thirty-four feet and a depth of twenty-one feet. Her home port is Seattle, Wash.

VERBAL BATTLE ON SHOOTING IN PARIS

When former Premier Edouard Herriot was caught by a crowd near one of the Seine bridges, he was kicked and punched at, until he was finally rescued by police.

The most significant feature of the demonstrations was the evident sympathy of the public at large with the demonstrators. Rightly or wrongly, the man in the street has got the idea of the Chamber of Deputies is a nest of dishonest politicians serving their own interests.

AUSTRIAN CHIEF VISITS HUNGARY

Chancellor Dollfuss Leaves Vice-Chancellor Fey in Control During Absence

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Vienna, Feb. 7.—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, with two provincial capitals—Innsbruck and Linz—occupied by Fascist troops bearing drastic demands, departed for Budapest to-day.

Off for a two-day visit with Premier Julius Goembs of Hungary, the Chancellor left Vice-President Engelbert Fey, a leader in the Fascist Heimwehr (home guard), in charge of Austria. It was recalled with some apprehension in Social circles, especially that Fey issued a decree in his own name creating political concentration camps and authorizing the incarceration of political suspects without trial.

The Socialists were anxious enough then. Their anxiety was ten times greater to-day.

Friedrich, Socialist leaders admitted a critical situation had been created by the developments at Linz and Innsbruck and warned against possible move on Vienna.

"WRATH OF EVEREST GODS" DISCUSSION STIRS NORTH INDIA

That the recent earthquake which killed thousands in India was caused by the wrath of the gods, aroused by the insult they suffered when Commander P. F. M. Felowes (lower right), and the Marquess of Clydesdale (lower left), flew over sacred Mount Everest last year is the accusation made by Nepal priests. Although the British fliers who performed this remarkable feat are blamed for profaning the sacred mountain, they did it only after they had received permission from the Maharajah of Nepal (top right), and the Earl of Willington, Viceroy of India (top left), did everything in his power to help the daring aerial expedition to accomplish the feat never before performed. The top centre picture shows Mount Everest, while below is one of the two West-land planes which were used on the flight over the Himalayas.

U.S. Farmers To Get $1,000,000,000 In Year Under New Control

Benefit Payment Plans For Reduction Schemes Are Before Congress

Washington, Feb. 7.—The handing of about $1,000,000,000 to the United States farmers during 1934 as benefit payments for production control and corn loans is planned by the farm administration.

Official estimates covering the wheat, corn and hogs, cotton, tobacco and corn loans programmes were disclosed today to call for an estimated expenditure of $766,512,695, or more than five times the $152,521,177 spent in 1933.

In addition an emergency fund of $200,000,000 would be provided for benefit payments to beef and dairy cattle farmers in a bill passed by the House of Representatives and favorably reported by a Senate committee. In addition, more payments to wheat farmers under a now-contemplated second acreage reduction would bring the total well above $1,000,000,000.

Officials revealed that only $200,000,000 of this would be paid out of the treasury, if their plans carry through, the balance being due to come from processing tax receipts. Secretary Wallace even plans on repaying this sum out of the proposed processing tax on butterfat.

WANT WHITE MEN ON STEAMSHIPS

Hundreds in Vancouver Could Take Place of Orientals

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 7.—Replacement of Oriental workers by unemployed white men will be urged on steamship and railway companies by a sub-committee appointed by the civic relief committee.

Aldermen were told by R. H. Flynn of the Canadian National Research Association that there are 703 Orientals employed by steamship and railway companies in Vancouver. If these men were replaced by Vancouver jobs, the organization submitted, the city's relief lists could be greatly reduced.

Mr. Flynn added that among Vancouver's 500 seamen, 30 fishermen and ninety cooks who could find work if the jobs were not held by Orientals.

On the motion of Ald. Walter DeFord, a committee will be named to interview rail and steamship firms.

Rail Wage Deadlock In Great Britain

London, Feb. 7.—Railway companies in the United Kingdom and unions of their employees appeared today to have reached a deadlock in their negotiations to establish new machinery before the expiration of notice given by the companies to end the present wage boards.

The companies propose a small national board of about five members, with an independent chairman and want private hearings of national claims on wages and conditions of work.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, will be a member of the committee, which will have before it the government legislation to create a central bank, as well as the bills extending the charters of Canadian banks.

The members are: Col. James Arthur (Conservative, Parry Sound); R. L. Baser (Conservative, Toronto North); W. A. Beynon (Conservative, Moose Jaw); C. E. Bothwell (Liberal, Swift Current); J. L. ## New Chevrolet Attracts Crowds At Spencer's Store

The special preview showing of the 1934 Chevrolet on the main floor of David Spencer's Limited attracted thousands of interested motorists yesterday and today. The car is displayed on a special platform in the centre of the building opposite the View Street entrance.

The knee action front wheel suspension demonstrated by a mechanical contrivance, beneath the platform, reproducing road action on the front wheel, which is one of Chevrolet's sensational improvements, drew enthusiastic comment from the spectators.

The beautiful lines of Chevrolet are further accentuated in this year's model by an increase of the wheelbase. The display will remain in the department store for a few more days.

STORE MAN PUTS THUGS TO ROUT

Vancouver Merchant Armed With Big Knife Chases Off Robbers

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 7.—Armed with a large butcher knife, E. C. Bott routed three pistol-armed thugs who attempted to hold him up yesterday in his store on North Clinton Street.

The three gunmen entered the store brandishing automatic pistols. One stood guard at the door and the other approached the storekeeper and ordered him to hold up his hands. Instead of obeying, Bott seized a large butcher knife, which was kept on the premises, and shouting, "Get out! Get out!" made for the bandits. The trio did not care to face the weapon and fled.

Some months ago, Mr. Bott routed in a similar manner two armed men who attempted to rob him.

RAILWAY MERGER OUTLOOK DEBATED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Amalgamation of the management of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways will be unavoidable unless there is considerable improvement in operation during the present year, Hon. C. H. Cahoon, Secretary of State, said Tuesday in addressing the annual meeting of the Ottawa Women's Conservative Association and the Conservative Women's Forum.

The minister said he did not speak for the government in making this suggestion, but it was his considered opinion there would be no alternative to fusion of the two great railroads unless conditions improved.

GREATER USE OF BREAD IS URGED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Action to stimulate consumption of wheat in North America was urged in the House of Commons yesterday evening by F. W. Turnbull, Conservative, Regina. He suggested Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, get in touch with the National Recovery Administration of the United States and arrange for a joint campaign to get people to eat more wheat.

If each one of the 130,000,000 people in North America ate one more slice of bread per day, he said, it would step up the per capita consumption of wheat by one bushel and lop 130,000,000 bushels off the wheat surplus in a single year.

Mr. Turnbull made a plea that eastern Canada be more charitable to the west in its day of adversity. He also thought the time had come when a general revision of the British North America Act, Canada's written constitution, was overdue in the light of today's problems.

THUGS ATTACK VANCOUVER MAN

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 7.—James O'Rourke, member of the 100 Club, Seymour Street, was the victim of a mysterious attack by three men at the club yesterday evening, according to his report to the police.

Officers who responded to a call found Mr. O'Rourke suffering from bruises and he told them three men had entered the premises and attempted to drag him out. His calls for aid caused them to abandon their purpose and run, he stated. Police searched the district, but without result.

Mr. O'Rourke could give no reason for the attack on him, he said.

SONG WRITER ENDS HIS LIFE

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—One man, a dependent twenty-eight-year-old song writer, ended his life with a dramatic flourish yesterday and the life of another, who planned to commit suicide, was saved by an explosion.

The song writer, Jack McQuire, telephoned the city editor of an evening newspaper, saying he was going to "bump myself off."

The city editor reasoned with McQuire, meanwhile whispering instructions to reporters to send police to McQuire's address. Suddenly the conversation ended.

Police found McQuire lying across a bed. He had shot himself through the head. A note stated his wife, Mrs. Alice McQuire, had left him several days ago.

"Maybe the publicity will help put a couple of my songs across," the note said, "then Alice can have the money."

Dependent because he had lost his position, W. R. Cunningham, thirty-two, hotel night clerk, closed himself in his room, police said, and turned on the gas. He lighted a "farewell cigarette." An explosion jarred the rooming house.

Cunningham was burned about the face and neck, but hospital physicians said he would live.

Saskatchewan M.P.P.'s Prepare For Session

Canadian Press

Regina, Feb. 7.—The last session of the present Saskatchewan Legislature will be short, according to forecasts made here today, as legislative machinery was being oiled for the opening February 15. House observers estimated the length of the session at six weeks.

In line with the practice of the last year or two, there will be no public reception following opening of the Legislature.

Farm Hand Admits Slaying Woman

Associated Press
Evansville, Ind., Feb. 7.—Following a quarrel with Miss Alice Martin over $2.75 she had withheld from his wages because of damage done to a wagon, Ernest Wright, a farm hand, clubbed her to death, he had told authorities here today.

Chief of Detectives Bert White and Sheriff Clyde Heuser said Wright admitted slaying his employer, a former circus trapeze performer, after they told him he had been betrayed by fingerprints found on the club with which Miss Martin was slain.

The body of Miss Martin was found last Saturday in a shallow grave on her 150-acre farm in Perry County, near the village of Derby.

U.F.A. Amendment Barred in House

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—The sub-amendment of the U.F.A. group to the Liberal amendment on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was ruled out in the Commons yesterday. It declared the country has no confidence in the official opposition. The Liberal amendment expresses want of confidence in the administration.

A vote of want of confidence in the opposition, said Speaker Black, was of no effect, and not a matter to be submitted to the Governor-General. It was a well-known principle of parliamentary practice that votes of want of confidence could only be directed against the government of the day.

Slain in the march of progress, one of the towering giants of Vancouver Island's earliest history lay prone yesterday. It was the much-publicized tree at the Douglas Street end of Beacon Hill Park. Yesterday the city axemen felled the historic Douglas fir to make way for street improvement.

Once one of the landmarks of the city, it now looks a pretty fair load of wood now looks a pretty fair load of wood for an ambitious man with a crosscut saw.

PARIS IN TURMOIL

It is significant that in the riots in Paris and other French cities the Communists and Royalists are making common cause. This alliance between the extreme Left and the extreme Right, between the champions of a proletarian dictatorship and the advocates of the restoration of the monarchy, is very unusual, and can not last long. If between them they could mobilize enough public sentiment behind them to bring about a successful revolution they would shortly thereafter be at one another's throats as furiously as the Nazis and Communists of Germany were during the early stages of the Hitler regime.

The riots are described in press dispatches as the most serious outbreaks since the revolution of 1870. Troops have fired on the mob; the Daladier government has resigned, and President Lebrun is having some difficulty in getting somebody to form an administration. Whoever shall accept the Premiership will have to be strong, resolute and above suspicion, since it is obvious that while the Royalists and Communists are the most vicious among the rioters, a large part of the public has lost confidence in recent governments and wants radical changes in administration.

It is well to remember, however, that Paris is not France, that the majority of the French people are rural and not given to hysteria, and that rioting in the larger urban centres does not mean that there is any strong revolutionary sentiment in France. There might be if an attempt were made to set up either Fascist or military autocracy. In general, France is still too near her historical revolutions to want another; she wants no "Man on Horseback" again, no matter what symbol he may wear.

While the Bayonne pawnbroking scandal and the dismissal of a highly-popular Prefect of Police were the immediate causes of the outbreaks, the roots of the trouble go much deeper. France was the last of the great powers to enter the orbit of the world-wide depression. As recently as three years ago, while most other nations were wrestling with serious unemployment problems, France was actually importing labor, much of which was employed on the restoration of her devastated districts. She was then economically comfortable. Only two years ago she was on a relatively even economic keel, while to-day she is much better off in respect of employment than any other leading country. But she could not escape the financial reaction resulting from depressed international commerce and unfavorable exchange conditions.

Like other nations, France now has to increase taxation and reduce wages. She has been confronted with large budget deficits, to which, no doubt, her large expenditures on military armaments required by her conception of defensive needs, and the aid she has had to furnish the partners in her defensive alliances, have been important contributions. These economic conditions, acute because they have arrived lately, followed by the Bayonne scandal, have caused considerable discontent, of which, naturally enough, the agitators for the hopeless Royalist cause and the Communists have taken the utmost advantage.

These riotous ebullitions in Paris, however, are not devoid of danger beyond the boundaries of France. If Hitler, for example, attempted to take advantage of them by an overt move towards the absorption of Austria into the Reich, there might be an immediate resort to arms. If, notwithstanding the non-aggression pact between Germany and Poland, an attempt were made by Hitler to take over the Polish Corridor, there would be an immediate explosion. Continental Europe is still a long way in the woods.

THE WORLD'S QUANDARY

Sir John Simon, Britain's Foreign Secretary, placed the plain facts about the disarmament controversy before the British House of Commons yesterday afternoon; but what he said will bring little consolation to a world which is bearing the cost of the last war and the cost of preparations which, unless the nations recover their senses, will result in another one.

Britain has done more disarming than any other nation. Unprejudiced authorities have confirmed the fact. Military men are crying out for a larger army. The navy men say the British fleet is far below the strength required to do its job. Admiral Sir Roger Keyes says he will "fight like the devil" to break the London Naval Treaty if he gets into Parliament. He is the government candidate in the North Portsmouth by-election. Statistics, of course, show how far Britain is behind in the matter of aerial fighting equipment in comparison with other nations.

Admittedly, it is not a bit of use a nation with the responsibilities such as Great Britain has to shoulder to continue disarming if other nations continue to add to their armaments. But it is a sorry state of affairs to which Sir John Simon was compelled to bow—that unless Germany shall be allowed to increase her armaments and lifted out of a condition of subjection, no peace will be possible.

The British plan, aimed chiefly to compose the differences between France and Germany, urges the recognition of Germany's right to equality of rights as an essential preliminary to agreement on the all-around limitation of armaments. It expressed the belief it should not be hard to find a compromise between the German short-term army of 200,000, already agreed to in previous discussions, and the German demand for 300,000 men.

However, Sir John Simon says he believes that "we will be able to do more if we approach the subject in a spirit of realism. It is more than two years since the Disarmament Conference opened. Time is running against the friends of disarmament, but Britain, not under compulsion, but voluntarily, has translated the nations' desire for disarmament into deeds and intends to do everything in her power to bring about international agreement."

It all comes back to the plain fact that the only way to disarm is to disarm.

NO POLITICAL POSTMASTERS

United States Postmaster-General Farley has gone to England and while he is there he intends to find out why it is that the British Postoffice has been making a profit fairly regularly of about $50,000,000 a year, while the American Postoffice has to make up a big deficit each year.

The Detroit News is of the opinion that there is in this quest of Mr. Farley's no problem at all to solve. Being a smart man, it says, he will not have to dig far to find the answer; "and it is hoped that he recognizes it when he comes on it." Says the Detroit newspaper also: "In seven words it is this: The British Postoffice has no political postmasters."

To this may be added a Canadian Press dispatch from London to-day which announced that in the year recently ended the British Postoffice produced a record surplus of more than $55,000,000. Incidentally, the telegraph service deficit was increased by about $5,500,000.

"THE MOST AMUSING SIDE-SHOW"

In an address in Montreal on Monday, Sir Frederick Whyte, well-known British parliamentarian and former political adviser to the Chinese National Government, said England's Fascist leader, Sir Oswald Mosley, is providing the Old Country with the most amusing side-show—with Lord Rothermere's newspapers "giving more people the opportunity to see it." Sir Frederick sees neither Communism nor Fascism as genuine rivals of democratic forms of government in English-speaking countries.

The only trouble which is likely to happen in England—we say England because Sir Oswald does not seem to have tried "shirism" in any other part of the British Isles—will happen to the Fascist leader himself. A recent issue of one of Lord Rothermere's illustrated newspapers printed a large picture of two armored cars which have been delivered to the Fascist organization as part of a fleet of five.

It was not intended by the powers that be at Fascist headquarters that the initial delivery should be the subject of photographic record. The transport chief of the Fascist Union obviously was annoyed, since he issued a statement to the effect that it had been arranged to have all the five vans photographed together and a sort of "to-do" on the official handing over from the manufacturers. A representative of the firm which made the cars gives this description of them:

They are a special type of Bedford van and have been built mainly for carrying political parties around. They have special back-axle ratios for high speed and can travel at sixty-five miles an hour. Each van will carry twenty men.

They have steel bodies and are lined throughout with bullet-proof steel. The glass used is unbreakable and can be regarded as bullet-proof also. In addition, the window openings are covered with steel mesh. The driver is enclosed and is as well guarded as the men in the body of the van. Nothing like them has been built in this country before.

The official who described the cars was asked whether they resembled the armored craft used by gangsters in the United States, and he replied that "in principle they are the same, but the design is different." When these facts about the vans were made known to Scotland Yard by their publication in one of Lord Rothermere's dailies—here is the real side-show touch—an official of that very competent institution thanked the newspaper in question for the information, and said: "It is, of course, impossible for us to say what action the police are likely to take, but the matter will be carefully considered." And this is what a former Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police said when he was asked for an opinion:

If I were Commissioner at present I should do everything in my power to discover what legal action is possible against the users. If I could find any means of taking action I should take it.

It would be an offence to drive these cars at sixty miles per hour; but the small penalty that can be imposed for speeding would be little deterrent to the Fascists.

It is difficult to see what these cars can be used for if not to transport Fascist reinforcements to places where disturbances were going on. If that were done it would be easy for the police to take action, but they can do it only after the offence has occurred.

Obviously the Rothermere newspaper wanted as many opinions as possible, having spilled the proverbial beans, so it consulted a legal authority. Here is his guarded comment: "There is nothing to prevent any individual from possessing an armored car so long as it does not include any offensive armament, but it all depends what the car is used for. Under common law it is an offence to maintain a private army, and possibly the transport of bodies of men in armored cars might be construed as an offence of this kind."

It ought to be safe to predict that by this time, at one of the weekly meetings of the executives of "Punch," Bernard Partridge or L. Raven Hill has been entrusted with the execution of a suitable cartoon of this Mosley-Rothermere side-show.

LIVING LINKS DISAPPEARING

Steele in The Christian Science Monitor

England sees one of its living links with the time of William the Conqueror fall under the auctioneer's hammer. Drakelow Hall, outside Burton-on-Trent, passes at distress sale from Sir Robert Gresley to speculators for $62,500. It has been the seat of the Gresley family for twenty-eight generations, the Gresleys and the Shirlays of Ettington alone retaining estates granted them by Duke William of Normandy. Some of the old families lost their homes through displeasure of kings—But it is the hardships befalling king and commoner alike that swallow grey Drakelow Hall.

By H. B. W.

EARTH

WHILE YOU were toiling in the great city over the hill, this afternoon, we sneaked off and walked through the fields, down by the lower road. You probably wouldn't notice it because your civilized nose doesn't record these subtle manifestations of life, but there was a smell in the air, months ahead of time, which made our country-bred hearts beat faster.

On the high ground George Pudgebury was ploughing already, in early February, and the furrows lay in the sun there, fat and sleek and shiny, and up from the newly-turned black earth came an immemorial smell, sweeter than any perfume, the smell of black earth just beginning to warm up after the winter, the smell that comes of thousands of years of growth and decay, of many seasons' ploughing and harrowing and sowing and reaping. Down further by the lower road, there was another smell—the acid smell of willows whose buds are swelling and green already, of new grass starting out of the ground, of wild rose bushes ready to put out their first tiny shoots—the old, sweet smell of growth.

And over the fields came the bubbling, liquid song of the meadowlarks and the sharp call of a single robin who, country-bred like us, knew that it won't be long now.

COMMONPLACE

THE AMERICAN POET, Richard Le Gallienne, has lately been writing a lament in the New York press about the "undistinguished, commonplace, not to say common, appearance of most of our public men." Alas, it is too true, and not in the United States only. Our public men here are also commonplace and I doubt that it would do much good to put beards and whiskers and wigs on them, as some enterprising American publications have attempted to do.

They have printed pictures of leading statesmen of their own country with the wigs, whiskers and beards carefully painted by artists, with surprising results. Yes, you would be amazed to see how changed they look. You would be amazed, I think, if you could see the vast clean-shaven expanses of our Canadian statesmen covered with hair, for scarcely one of them even wears a mustache—only one mustache in the whole government of British Columbia, and that clipped very close. One's imagination could run riot in adorning our statesmen in this fashion and, indeed, a few hairs on the top of their heads would completely disguise most of our leading public figures.

Yet the fact remains that they look undistinguished, commonplace, as Mr. Le Gallienne laments. But that is not because they are different from the ordinary run of people. It is because they are so exactly similar to the ordinary run of people. The whole toll in these times has become undistinguished looking, commonplace, not to say common. Only a few fellows look anything else and usually they are handsome playboys who serve no other purpose in society than decoration.

The real brains of our civilization usually wear a pretty homely exterior. And, besides, if we could develop a race of handsome and distinguished-looking statesmen we wouldn't elect them. The most obvious fact in democracy is that elected parliamentaries reflect the average of the country, not the best, and if we had only the best in office there would be a revolution immediately, because we don't want our rulers to do those things which we require most. We want them to do those things which suit us, a very different matter. We want statescraft, like statesmen, which is undistinguished, commonplace, not to say common.

common, and we get it. Still, it's a great deal more comfortable than the handsome dashing Hitler and Mussolini, who would tell you for nothing of reading such irrelevant stuff as this.

YOUR CHARACTER

THE PSYCHOLOGISTS have lately invented a simple mathematical test by which you can gauge your own character and see through yourself, assuming that you have the courage to face such a spectacle. All you have to do is to ask yourself a series of highly personal questions, give yourself high or low marks, according to your own conscience, and add up the total, thus discovering whether you are 100 per cent, 50 per cent or only 10 per cent perfect. These are some of the questions which psychology has developed after deep thought:

Do you pay more than your equal share of common expenditures when in the company of others?

If you failed to keep a promise to repay borrowed money to a person and were ushered to a seat in the theatre next to him, would you change your seat?

Do you attend church only as a social or business expedient? How often do you bathe each week? Do you understand the conventions of contract bridge?

Do you always use a handkerchief when you sneeze or cough? How much do you walk, daily average?

If you found $10,000 in currency would you make a sincere effort to find the owner?

Do you of your own knowledge know how nearly your watch shows correct time at this moment? What is your habitual form of gambling?

How many of your accounts payable for living expenses are delinquent thirty days or more?

Do you remember the place where you last saw a beautiful sunset? Is your living standard adjusted to your present income?

Have you now in your possession a borrowed book or umbrella you are ashamed to return?

How many times have you seriously considered suicide?

If you had a dinner engagement with an interesting person whose favor you were seeking, how long would you delay keeping the engagement to wait for the veterinary to come to see your very sick dog?

You will probably find, if you answer the questions truthfully and add up your averages, that you are a pretty nasty fellow. The net result of the whole test, indeed, is to prove that human beings on the whole are rather a vile lot. But psychology has been devoted itself for years, with complete success, to the job of proving just that, and I sometimes wonder why the psychologists bother to rub it in.

GOOD DEED

THE CHILDREN from next door performed their daily good deed yesterday by collecting the mail out of the iron post boxes down on the main road and delivering it to everyone. The little girl next door, of course, has arrived at years of partial discretion and didn't open a single letter, but you can't trust her brother. He tore the envelopes off all his bundles when she wasn't looking, and when the letters arrived at Mrs. Shipley's, Mrs. Pudgebury's, Mrs. Beak's and Colonel Blossom's they were fully exposed to public view and smeared with muddy fingerprints.

Besides, in order to discover who each letter was for, the little boy next door had to stop several people on the road and ask them to read the addresses. As there were no addresses, the surprised passers-by found themselves reading the whole personal mail of the neighborhood and, judging by the time they took over it, they found the contents quite interesting.

When Mrs. Pudgebury received a bundle of undelivered letters she had to read them fully to find who they were for, and Mrs. Beak, while insisting that she hadn't read more than the first line in either case, discovered mysteriously that Colonel Blossom was three months behind in his mortgage interest, that Mr. Pudgebury had been left a hundred pounds sterling by an aunt in England and that Mrs. Shipley was considering the purchase of a weight-reducing medicine. It has also become known throughout the neighborhood, with general regret, that Mrs. Beak's girl, now at the University of British Columbia, was thinking of marrying a man forty years old, and that if Mr. Beak doesn't pay his telephone bill pretty soon his phone will be taken out.

No, nobody was low enough to read the mail brought by the little boy next door, but everybody in the neighborhood eyes everybody else with suspicion these days. Everybody has an uncomfortable feeling that the neighborhood may know the truth. And the little boy next door, who was spanked for his public service, can't understand this ingratitude.

MOTOR LICENSES

To the Editor:—The injustice of the late administration in fixing motor license fees by weight instead of by age, thereby increasing the poor man's fee 20 per cent, who through economic stress owns an old car, weighing 2,000 to 2,500 pounds, was a glaring instance of discriminating legislation.

Those well endowed with this world's goods thereby receive a reduction, the poor man an increase. The interim license fee of 1933 supposedly for the benefit of the poor was made a mockery of, for although a full-year fee was paid, it was not considered continuous unless paid in full on or before March 1, 1933.

The person who through financial stress could not pay until a few days later was informed he had forfeited his two months' free stickers for 1934. If he wished to operate his car for January and February 1934 he had to pay an additional fee.

Great as this injustice of the late administration regarding motor license fees was, they at least ran true to their traditions to uphold the status quo, to balance the budget, and to ignore, if possible, the economic condition of the masses.

The Liberal administration by their actions in ignoring or refusing to adjust this unjust class legislation are false to their pre-election declarations and the truth is not in them.

Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad.

ASSAYING

To the Editor:—The resignation of the provincial mineralogist, reported in the press recently, will, I hope, afford the government an opportunity to bring about a much-needed improvement in the organization of the assay office, which is under the direct supervision of the provincial mineralogist.

Without knowing what the actual increase in the number of mineral samples submitted for assay has been during the last year, it must go without saying that it has been very great, and there does not seem to have been any provision made to cope with this increase, which will undoubtedly, become greater in the near future.

As things are, at present, roasting is believed, done only once a week, and it may, therefore, take as long as a full week or ten days before the results are ascertained.

Under the act, a licensed miner can get his samples assayed free of charge by the government, but the delay referred to often causes him to have the work done elsewhere, and the object of this provision of the act is, therefore, defeated, as not only is the prospector, who is rarely in the "capitalist class," put at a disadvantage, instead of being helped, but the government is deprived

TRAPPER RIDES ANGRY BEAR

Clings in Two-mile Dash,
Then Turns His Mount
Into Steak

Bangor, Feb. 7.—From the wilderness beyond Caucanong Lake comes the story of how John McEachern rode a bear two miles and came back with the bruin's skin and twelve pounds of his hams ready to be sliced into steaks. Had the story been told of any other man it might not be believed, but as McEachern once fought a moose with a fence rail and followed a wildcat into a barn chamber, where he killed it with a pitchfork, the people up north see nothing surprising in the announcement that he rode the biggest bear ever killed at Caucanong and came home unharmed and victorious.

McEachern has a line of traps around the head of the lake, and the other day went out with a companion, Neil Russell, to see what he had caught. McEachern took along his rifle, and not until he was miles from the camp did he recall that it was loaded only with duck shot—nine to a shell, which would not much more than tickle a bear in case he should meet such game—but rather than walk back to camp he kept on, being a half mile ahead of Russell, who is a slow traveler and also nearly deaf.

When McEachern came in sight of the first trap he saw a big bear in it and ran to finish the animal, but as he was about to fire, another bear, larger than the one in the trap, bounded out of the bushes and made straight for him. McEachern, having no time to consider the matter, let drive with the duck shot. There was a double charge of powder behind the duck shot, and the old rifle sent McEachern sprawling.

TRAPPER RUNS FOR HIS LIFE
Thereupon the trapper learned just what a charge of duck shot does to a bruin. It brings out the worst side of his nature. The bear paused momentarily as the shot dug into him, then he furiously renewed his charge while the bear in the trap growled encouragement.

McEachern was in no position just then to fight, and he yelled to Russell to come along and help, forgetting that Russell, who could not hear him ten yards away, was half a mile back on the path.

McEachern then did the only thing he could do—ran for it. The bear followed and showed much the greater speed, so that escape in flight was out of the question. Then, for about ten minutes, the man and the bear played tag among the trees, with no advantage on either side until McEachern tripped on a root and fell. The bear, close up, stumbled on the same root and went half down. McEachern, in his excitement, lost his footing again as quickly as he had risen and fell across the bear. Before he had time to jump up the bear was up and away, with snarls of rage and surprise.

McEachern, mechanically held on tight, with both hands gripped firmly into the thick fur of the bear. When the bear tried to turn his head McEachern took a strong hold on the stubby ears to prevent this.

MAN AND BEAST IN WILD DASH
Over ridges and down hollows they went, occasionally stumbling over stumps and fallen trees, and then they came to a deserted "ramdown," the tobyogan of the woods. It was a logging road as steep as the roof of a house and down it the bear plunged. It looked like sure death, for the bear would certainly take a tumble somewhere between the top and the bottom, and then McEachern, if not killed in the crash, would be torn to bits.

Suddenly it occurred to McEachern that he had in his pocket a long hunting knife, pointed to him a few weeks ago by a city friend, and quickly he fished it out, opening the blade with his teeth. They were now half way down the slope, and there was no time to lose. Raising the knife at arm's length, McEachern plunged it to the hilt into the bear's neck. The bear stumbled, halted and, with muffled growls, went headlong into the ditch at the roadside. McEachern climbed off on the safe side and got behind a tree. The bear, although mortally wounded, presently came on to renew the battle.

It was not safe to get near enough to use the knife again. A big birch alder stake lay nearby and McEachern grabbed it.

When the bear came within range McEachern put all his strength into the swing of the stake. The birch landed on the bear's nose with a crack like the snapping of a broomstick, and that ended the fight, for down went the big fellow, groggy, and another slash with the knife settled him.

CHRYSANTEMUMS
THEME OF TALK
Cultivation of Popular Flower Described to Horticulturists

Chrysanthemums were the subject of an address by F. A. Saunders, Empire Hotel gardener, to the Victoria Horticultural Society in the City Hall yesterday evening. He went thoroughly into the methods of cultivating these plants, advocating the use of cuttings in preference to seedlings.

The society decided to sponsor another competition, in which results will be shown at the fall chrysanthemum show. Prizes will be given for the best fruit, or stem of outdoor grown tomatoes.

A. D. Miles won first prize in the monthly competition for vegetable exhibits with A. M. Scott second and Mrs. E. W. Darcus was the successful exhibitor in the floral displays.

It was announced demonstrations of pruning will be held February 14 and 15 at 2:30 o'clock in the garden of H. Brown, 2567 Estevan Avenue.

NRA EXPLAINED TO KWANIANAS

T. I. Seamon and F. S. Murray of Bates College Guest Speakers at Luncheon

"The NRA has had a tremendous psychological effect on the people of the United States. It has brought a great change in their way of thinking. It is a general programme of recovery. It is not Communism, Socialism or Fascism, as many people outside the country seem to think," said Theodore I. Seamon of Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, in speaking to members of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

With his fellow debater, Frank S. Murray, also of Bates College, and P. E. George and Stephen Lloyd, whom they met in debate yesterday evening, Mr. Seamon was a guest at yesterday's luncheon. During his talk he outlined the NRA and the great things it is accomplishing for the United States. Mr. Seamon said he had found a false idea abroad about the NRA. "It is evidently laughed at," he commented, for in some places he found people saying it stood for "Nuts running America" and "Nazis running amok."

"We had our prosperity during 1929," Mr. Seamon stated, "and we let go of nearly everything that was substantial. And then we did a lot of yelling about it. With the NRA, President Roosevelt is only trying to do something with things as they are in the United States at the present time."

MIXED OPINIONS

Many people in the United States thought the President had been too radical. Others thought he had not been radical enough. Mr. Seamon stated, Mr. Roosevelt's attitude in the matter, the speaker declared, was evidently "we were going to keep trying until we find some scheme that works."

"All in all," Mr. Seamon said, "the NRA has given to the people of the United States a new philosophy in life. When you consider the great population of the country, and its complex nature, I think President Roosevelt is certainly due for a great deal of credit for what he has already done." International misunderstanding between people in Canada and the United States was not nearly as great as he expected, Mr. Murray said. He said he had found in many ways there was not much difference between the people in the two countries. He spoke of the many debates in which teams from Bates College had taken part. Bates College, he said, started international debating. In 1921 a team was sent across to Great Britain and a few years later teams from Oxford and Cambridge returned visits. In 1925 another team went to the British Isles and in 1928 a team from Bates took a trip around the world, debating in many countries.

"A trip such as this is of great value to everyone concerned," Mr. Murray said. "We shall carry back to our campus a story of understanding and sympathy on the part of the Canadians whom we have met."

FUNDS NEEDED FOR MORTGAGE

Tuberculous Veterans Require $1,100 to Retire Debt on New Premises

Efforts are now under way in Victoria to secure funds to lift the $1,100 mortgage on the new premises of the Tuberculous Veterans, at 812 Blanshard Street.

The premises, secured last year, and opened in September by Mayor David Leeming, were a much-needed improvement over the rented rooms that had served as headquarters previously, for under a mortgage, which involves amounting to $1,240, did not make it possible to pay for the building, right, and after paying down $226.50 for the house, and $312 for alterations and decorations, the funds were exhausted and there still remained a deficit of $1,100. This is being cared for under a mortgage, which involves an annual expenditure of $60 interest.

HAMPERING DEBT
To an organization as impetuous as the Tuberculous Veterans this is a hampering debt, and various ways and means of surmounting it have been considered. The committee at Christmas netted about $150, but that paid little more than the interest on the mortgage, while maintenance of the headquarters and various other expenses had to be met at the same time. The present appeal is to supplement the small revenue derived from the annual tag day and members' dues.

Had the community had the foresight and anticipated the need of such men, clubrooms would have been furnished and ready for the time they returned from overseas or hospital and sanitarium. But the disease was one of the many aftermaths of war that the public failed to realize until years after patriotic fervor had waned and real for war work subsided, the place is very comfortably furnished. The auxiliary throughout has stood valiantly behind the association and given them wonderful help. Many a pleasant social evening has been carried through at the new quarters with the ladies' assistance in the kitchen and dining-room, while on numerous occasions when the association was down to bed-rock in finances and thoroughly discouraged, the auxiliary has organized a silver tea or bazaar to raise much-needed funds. Anyone who has visited the rooms must have appreciated the home-like touch that is the direct result of their constant interest in the place.

MANY VETERANS HERE
Because of its equable climate, Victoria probably has a larger percentage of tuberculous veterans than any other city in the Dominion. The men were drawn here in large numbers, and destined to keep up the old comradeship, organized in 1922, a Tuberculous Veterans' unit. This was the first unit of the kind in Canada, outside those in San Francisco, and from the very first it flourished and did splendid work in proving cases applying for pension, helping less fortunate comrades not in receipt of pension, sponsoring free public lectures on care, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis, assisting with the burial of comrades and many other forms of help to members.

When the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League came into existence in 1926, the Tuberculous Veterans' Association affiliated as a body with the new organization as the Tuberculous Veterans' section.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT
Until April last year, the local branch occupied various rented quarters, too often cramped, ill-ventilated, comfortless and entirely unsuitable. The members were overjoyed at the prospect of possessing a building of their own, and all those who were able lent willing help to the remodeling of the little house at 812 Blanshard Street.

The premises have been completely renovated. Thanks to the activities of the Ladies' Auxiliary, the place is very comfortably furnished. The auxiliary throughout has stood valiantly behind the association and given them wonderful help. Many a pleasant social evening has been carried through at the new quarters with the ladies' assistance in the kitchen and dining-room, while on numerous occasions when the association was down to bed-rock in finances and thoroughly discouraged, the auxiliary has organized a silver tea or bazaar to raise much-needed funds. Anyone who has visited the rooms must have appreciated the home-like touch that is the direct result of their constant interest in the place.

Seven tables were in play at the card party held Monday evening in the hall under the auspices of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute and the Luxton hall committee. The bridge awards were made

Drive this NEW CHEVROLET

Three Revolutionary Riding Thrills!

WHEN a car takes First Place at the Motor Shows—and first place in sales—that's reason enough why you should see it and drive it before spending a single penny on any new automobile. There's simply no question about it when the new Chevrolet, that very same car, introduces the three outstanding low-priced car advancements of 1934!

FIRST OF ALL, of course, is THE FLOATING RIDE—the result of Knee-Action front wheels that abolish jar and bump and bounce, give feather-light steering, end wheel "shimmy" and increase front-end strength.

SECOND—an advanced new design of Chevrolet's famous, proved engine. Featuring an entirely new, high-efficiency Blue Flame cylinder head that gives more horsepower—faster acceleration—higher speeds—high compression without "knock"—increased smoothness—and better cooling—at even lower cost for gasoline and oil!

THIRD—the new, girder-built "YK" frame. Actually a frame-within-a-frame; with greater resistance to twisting, weaving strains; built so it cannot "sag"; lengthened to permit bigger and more spacious bodies; and cushioned from both body and engine by soft, live rubber.

With these great exclusive advancements—with bigger brakes, roomier Fisher Bodies and improved No-Draft Ventilation—is it any wonder that Chevrolet is Canada's most popular automobile? You'll agree, too—it's wise to drive a Chevrolet first before buying any new low-priced car!

"CADDY" MAKES PAIR OF CALLS

Reported as Being Seen in Puget Sound Waters and at Powell River

"Caddy," who has not been sighted in Victoria waters for several weeks, is apparently seeing the lights in other parts of the inland waters. Reports have recently been received from Powell River and Tacoma telling of appearances there of the well-known sea serpent. In the past "Caddy" has wandered to the Fraser River and even into Vancouver Harbor, but he has always come home to report to his wife, "Fenda," at their headquarters in the vicinity of Cadboro Bay.

Associated Press.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 7.—Victoria's sea serpent is sporting around Puget Sound, according to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Trooper, who said to-day they had seen the animal near Camp Hood, at the mouth of the Tahuya River, on Hood Canal. The Troopers said they were fishing when they saw the monster in shallow water eating sea grass. They said it has four legs, a body forty feet long and an odd head. They said they looked at it through strong glasses and that it glided into deep water and disappeared after eating.

Trooper said that John Scheffner, a fisherman at Camp Hood, declared the animal was no curiosity to him as he had seen it frequently.

Powell River, Feb. 7.—Cadboro Bay, the sea serpent which has disappeared itself intermittently of late for the benefit of residents of Victoria and the Gulf Islands, was seen here by Jack Harper, prominent Powell River merchant.

Mr. Harper was working near his home above Willingdon Beach, when his attention was drawn seawards by sounds he described later as resembling "spasmodic sputters of escaping steam." Glancing up, he saw a flock of ducks in squawking flight, and pursuing them in the water, was a head about a foot in diameter.

Behind the head, says Mr. Harper, for a distance of thirty or forty feet, were the "rumpling ripples," which fact and tradition associate with the presence of sea serpents.

"No, no," said Mr. Harper impatiently, "it was not a black fish; neither was it a shark or a hair seal. I have seen too many of them in my time to be deceived. This was a serpent."

Mr. Harper notified a neighbor and together they watched the creature for several minutes from a distance of forty yards.

Canadian Press.

Edinburgh, Feb. 7.—The celebrated monster of Loch Ness has either gone to earth or deep water.

It is now several weeks since anyone has professed to have seen him, and Highland hotelkeepers are devoutly hoping he will resume his notoriously elusive appearances when the tourist season proper opens.

The monster has put the Highlands on the map to such an extent the Inverness council is reducing its grant to the board which advertises the district as a holiday centre.

The executive members of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service will meet on Thursday at 7:30 o'clock at the home of P. A. Moir, "The Bend," Langford Lake. The council members are asked to meet at the same place at 8 o'clock.

I Am 76!

When Shall I Grow Old?

WHEN a young man is old—that's a tragedy. When an old man is young—that's a paradox. Not long ago in a Canadian city there died a man of about 50. An autopsy showed that his body was that of a man of 90. His every organ, heart, stomach, digestive organs and nervous system were "burnt out" completely. He was an old young man. This man, a former country boy, had amassed a vast fortune but to what purpose? He died at 50, yet had he given thought to the health laws of nature he might have lived to be a hundred.

Recently while lecturing before a woman's society in British Columbia, on the subject "How to Be Always Young", I said my test for old age was this: "When a man or woman looks backward to a best time in life that never can come again, ceases to plan and work for the future, old age has set in, regardless of the years lived". Years do not enter into the discussion. Physical and mental resilience are the best measure of age. I am 76 but I'm not old—I'm young—from any standpoint. Why? Well, for years I have not had a moment's sickness. I work 14 hours a day and love my work. I run, skip the rope, play golf and other games, go on lecture tours of thousands of miles and operate a business that is constantly growing in size and importance, selling my products in six countries, and I live not in the past, but look to the future to provide me with better times and better success than I have known.

You say there are other men as vigorous and youthful at my time of life? I do not believe there are. But suppose there are. My great demonstration is in coming back to my state of physical perfection so that I can and do defy disease, even colds, after having never known good health until after I was 50, at which age I was given only four months to live by the greatest physician of modern times, Sir Wm. Osler.

How have I accomplished this seeming miracle? By learning and obeying Nature's health laws, chiefly those laws that relate to foods and feeding habits.

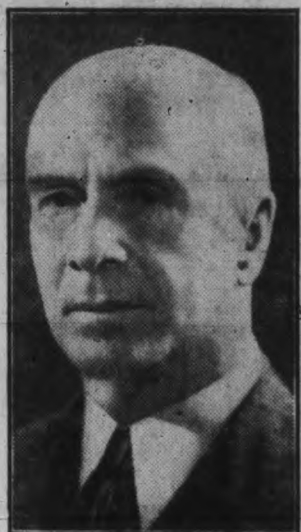

It cannot be doubted that the greatest evil of our civilization is wrong foods and feeding methods, trying to live upon dead, acid-forming and denatured foods. Our resistance to disease is maintained and measured by the amount of vitality we possess and vitality can be obtained and maintained only by eating foods that have in them a vital or life principle which they can transfer to us.

To correct my own devitalized, dying condition I invented vitalizing, alkali-forming Roman Meal. This together with Bekus-Puddy, Lishus, fresh fruits, nuts, vegetables, milk, Kofy-Sub constitute my diet.

"A normal alkali reserve in the blood stream is nature's first defence against fatigue, disease and premature death." So says science. To ensure a normal alkali reserve, 80% of your food intake must be alkali-forming. It is difficult to make 80% of your food intake alkaline without grain foods, and Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy and Lishus are the only alkali-forming grain foods known. These grain foods also overcome one of the most constant causes of all sickness—constipation.

Bekus-Puddy and Lishus are two newer grain foods I recently put on the market—the equal of Roman Meal in their alkali-forming and laxative properties. They can be alternated with Roman Meal if a change is desired. These products, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub, are daily growing in popularity, not only because of their health building properties but because of their deliciousness. A knowledge of the alkali-forming foods is a valuable bit of health education. If you will write to me I will send you free a list of alkali-forming foods and my pamphlet "HOW TO KEEP WELL". Address Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., 577 Vine Ave., Toronto.

The above is from a photograph of Robt. G. Jackson, M.D., at 75. When 50 years of age Dr. Jackson was given but four months to live by the famous Sir Wm. Osler, but through natural living habits and the use of alkaline foods Dr. Jackson is today in his 76th year the embodiment of youthful vigor and endurance.

"TEDDY" TO HER

Just because she is a humble Londoner is no reason why Mrs. E. McGill cannot be intimate with royalty if she wants to. When the Prince of Wales paid a surprise visit to the Oval House Club for Unemployed in London, and shook hands with officials, Mrs. McGill piped up: "Well, Teddy, serve us all alike." Right you are! replied the Prince and shook hers too.

ITALIAN TOUR PARTY COMING

Distinguished Officials Now Touring Canada Under Educational Council's Auspices

Victoria will shortly be host to a distinguished group of Italian speakers who are touring Canada under the auspices of the National Council of Education, and will be heard in this city on February 14 on matters concerning modern economic development.

The speakers have already proved popular in Canadian cities which they have visited, and in Toronto, crowds were turned away from hearing their addresses. Sir Joseph Flavelle has told members of the party that they were "doing the most influential thing in our history."

Those who will be included in the party which will appear here are Signorina Amy Bernardy, Signor Eugenio Croizat, Don Mario Colonna and Adelina Munro Drysdale.

HERE NEXT WEEK Signorina Amy Bernardy and Signor Eugenio Croizat are two nominees of the Italian Government, and will arrive at Victoria at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday, February 13.

Signorina Bernardy is one of the outstanding women scholars of Italy, well-known both as an author and as a journalist. For a number of years she was a professor of Italian at Smith College, Massachusetts, during which time she traveled widely, both in the United States and in Canada.

Signorina Bernardy gained great distinction in literature at the University of Florence, on the staff of which she holds an important position at the present time. She has complete command of English and is well-known as an able, experienced and entertaining lecturer.

SLIDE COLLECTION

Signor Croizat is an Italian lecturer of international reputation and has assembled an outstanding collection of slides which are masterpieces of Italian scenery, painting and sculpture. Born in Turin, in northern Italy, in 1890, he has traveled widely in many countries, particularly in France, where he lectured under the name of "Paul Paris," not only before the public, but for universities, lycées, colleges and in sixteen French academies. In recognition of his work the French Ministry of Education placed him, in 1930, at the head of the list of five lecturers in his subjects at the Sorbonne.

Signor Croizat has lectured extensively in the United States, particularly at the Century of Progress Exhibition in Chicago, to which he was officially appointed by the Italian Government. In 1928 he was warmly commended by then American Ambassador in Paris, the Hon. Myron F. Herrick, for his work in making the Italian States better known to the world.

MEMBER OF NOBILITY Don Mario Colonna, Duke of Rignano, Knight of Honor of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, is the eldest son of Don Prospero, Prince Colonna, one-time Royal Italian Ambassador in London and afterwards Governor of Rome. He received his early education in Italy, later taking his degree at Cambridge University (England) in science and engineering. He was on government service in Libya when, in August, 1914, the Great War broke out, during the course of which he saw service as a cavalry officer both with the Italian and the British armies. Seriously wounded in September, 1916, he was invalided and sent to London for treatment.

After his recovery he was again sent to the front and was attached to a British division in France, with which he remained until July, 1918, when he was transferred to Italy.

In November, 1927, Don Mario married Adelina Munro Drysdale, who is accompanying him on his visit to Canada.

He will arrive in Victoria at 3:30 p.m. on February 14, to speak at the invitation of the National Council of Education on the "Economic Development of the Modern Corporate State," in which he will draw inspiration for his subject from the Roman Collegia and the corporations and guilds of the Middle Ages. Thence, by way of the trade unionism, syndicalism and planned economies, he will reach the French and industrial revolutions.

Author of a well-known volume on the subject, his exposition will be of great value in assisting Canada to comprehend and to appreciate the significance of Italy's contribution to the civilization of the present world-wide condition.

The funeral of Sgt. C. A. Senior, who passed away suddenly on Sunday at West Point Barracks, took place yesterday with full military honors at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's Garrison Church. Equilmit, Rev. Alan Gardiner officiating and Rev. F. C. Church read the burial service. The hymns sung were "Oh, Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," and "Lead Kindly Light."

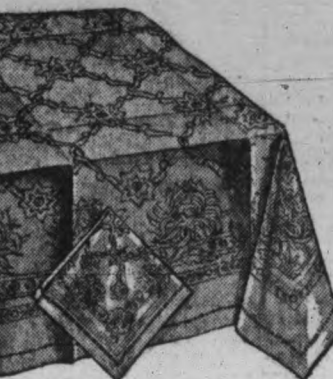

The remains were conveyed to the Naval Military Cemetery on the gun carriage supplied by R.C.A.S.C. in charge of Corp. J. Rowton, the casket being draped with the Union Jack, and which rested the sergeant's medals, cap and bandolier. Sgt. S. Pink was in charge of the firing party of twelve other ranks supplied by the P.P.C.L.I.

The following acted as pallbearers: C.Q.M.S. A. Jubb, Sergt. J. E. Guest, Staff-Sergt. A. R. Hooper, Sergt. R. C. Silburn, Sergt. H. R. Serace, Sergt. R.C.A.S.C.

Interment was in the Naval and Military Cemetery, where the firing party fired three volleys over the grave.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHURCH SOCIETIES

FIRST UNITED Y.P.S.

A capacity audience attended the mock musical festival held by First United Church Young People's Society on Monday evening, and appeared to enjoy the discordant efforts of a series of contestants taking part in the various events.

The "festival" was opened with much pomp and ceremony by the "Mayor" George Gordon in a somewhat rambling address. Gordon Robson acted as manager of the events, with Miss Marianne Dobbin as festival secretary. Both of these officials showed great skill in keeping the contestants in order.

The adjudicators, W. C. Pye and O.

G. Boothroyd, entered into the prevailing spirit of burlesque and made their awards with great dignity combined with extravagant punning, and much real humor.

There were eight classes open for competition, but the entrants did not keep closely to age limits, and every possible rule of music and deportment was broken. Polishing were the classes: Piano choir (under six years of age); piano solos, beginners; elocution, (boys under eight years of age); piano duets, (under ten years); instrumental; boys' chorus, (under nine years of age); choral societies and rose bowl competition. The test pieces included many nursery rhymes and popular ditties, the rendition of which caused great amusement.

An exhibition choral featuring "Mary Had a Little Lamb," sung by the members of the executive of the society with the president as leader, proved entertaining, and received commendation from the adjudicators. A bagpipe solo by Douglas Balfour was awarded the highest marks in the rose bowl competition, to the great delight of those present. Elocution numbers by James Walker were also well received.

There was a more serious element to the entertainment which was most enjoyable, this being the short recital of musical numbers as follows: Vocal solo by Miss Nellie Bowles, vocal duets, Misses Elsie and Lillian Robinson; vocal solo by D. C. Hughes and vocal solos by W. C. Pye.

During the evening James McCaig brought greetings from the Young People's Union and made announcement regarding the oratorical contest to be held in Metropolitan United Church on February 27, in which the various societies of the Lower Island are entering contestants.

Gordon Robson announced that the next week's meeting will be in the form of a Valentine social, and an entertaining time is promised to all the members and their friends.

Market Notes

First of the local vegetables to come on the market, small amounts of home-grown cauliflower are now on sale. The mild weather of the winter is responsible for the exceptionally early growth. Supplies of the vegetable will continue to be imported from California for some time, however, until the local producers put sufficient on the market to fill all the needs of the city.

Locally grown winter spinach is expected to make its appearance soon, but at present it is entirely imported from California, along with lettuce and celery, which will be produced locally later in the season. Shipments of these three vegetables are expected from California to-morrow.

A shipment of bananas reached Victoria last night.

The price of apples, which is already from fifty to 100 per cent. higher than last year according to grade, rose another ten cents per box in the Okanagan this morning, in the case of New-towns only.

Oranges are now in their best season of the year, with the quality exceptionally fine and supplies plentiful. The price yesterday fell twenty-five cents per case wholesale, making a difference of about one cent per dozen in the retail market.

The second post-Christmas shipment of Japanese oranges arrived Monday and was being distributed this morning. A third shipment is expected on the 19th.

Interred With Military Honors

The funeral of Sgt. C. A. Senior, who passed away suddenly on Sunday at West Point Barracks, took place yesterday with full military honors at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's Garrison Church. Equilmit, Rev. Alan Gardiner officiating and Rev. F. C. Church read the burial service. The hymns sung were "Oh, Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," and "Lead Kindly Light."

The remains were conveyed to the Naval Military Cemetery on the gun carriage supplied by R.C.A.S.C. in charge of Corp. J. Rowton, the casket being draped with the Union Jack, and which rested the sergeant's medals, cap and bandolier. Sgt. S. Pink was in charge of the firing party of twelve other ranks supplied by the P.P.C.L.I.

The following acted as pallbearers: C.Q.M.S. A. Jubb, Sergt. J. E. Guest, Staff-Sergt. A. R. Hooper, Sergt. R. C. Silburn, Sergt. H. R. Serace, Sergt. R.C.A.S.C.

Interment was in the Naval and Military Cemetery, where the firing party fired three volleys over the grave.

Mrs. Munro, the president, was in the chair, and the guest speaker was Rev. W. O. Wilson. Dr. Wilson emphasized the importance of the individual members of the women's organizations welcoming the strangers of the church into the various groups and making them feel that the church is a place where firm friendships are established. Four new members were welcomed.

Mrs. A. S. Christie was a special guest of the group and was cordially welcomed by Mrs. Munro, who paid warm tribute to her untiring efforts on behalf of the association, and, on behalf of the members, asked her acceptance of the honorary presidency of the group. Mrs. Christie graciously responded.

Mrs. S. J. Drake was appointed convener of the social committee and Mrs. A. S. Denny convener of the visiting committee. Mrs. W. M. Walker was appointed press secretary. Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, with Mrs. Christie presiding at the table.

Junior Maccabees Form Court Here

A very interesting and important meeting was held in the Maccabees Hall on Saturday afternoon, and a junior court of the Maccabees was organized. Victoria being the first city in British Columbia to have a junior Maccabees organization.

A. E. Chilton, who is the commander of Capital City Tent No. 2 of the Maccabees, delivered an address to the parents present and the junior members.

The following officers were provisionally appointed: Commander, Fred McPherson; past commander, Kenneth Cosby; lieutenant-commander, Francis Knowles; record-keeper, Ida Stanfield; golden deeds recorder, Amy Whitby; chaplain, Marcia Beach; sergeant, Phyllis Wilson; sentinel, Mary Haylock; national flag-bearer, Mary Franklin; Maccabee flag-bearer, Evelyn Day; first guard, Lavina Whyte, and second guard, Beryl Luck.

Mrs. Elsie Day, the court director, spoke on the programme of work and social events that would be arranged. She congratulated all the members present and requested all to get behind the court and make it a wonderful success.

Frank Franklin, the district manager, said he was pleased with the successful start the juniors had made; and it was quite an honor for Victoria to be the first charter court of the juniors in British Columbia. He gave a short talk on the composition of the Maccabees colors, what each color stood for and asked the members to remember these points, which would help them all to become better citizens.

Mr. Franklin said a drill team would be organized.

The following parents were present at the ceremony: Mrs. A. E. Luck, G. Day, I. Whyte, May MacPherson, O. Randy and V. M. Franklin.

Afternoon tea was served to the juniors by the ladies' committee.

I.O.D.E. Chapters Achieve Fine Community Service

Work for Hospitals, Schools and Other Causes Revealed in Annual Reports

February is the month in which the primary chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in Victoria take stock of the year's work by holding their annual meetings. Yesterday three chapters assembled for this purpose. Gonzales Chapter which, according to the delightful custom of some years past, met at "Moulton Combe," at the invitation of its honorary regent, Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson; and the Robert Burns McKelving Chapter and the Valentine Harvey-Beaumont Boggs Chapter, both of which met at the headquarters, Union Building.

GONZALES CHAPTER

Mrs. Walter C. Nichol was re-elected by acclamation to the regency of Gonzales Chapter. Other officers being chosen as follows: Honorary regent, Mrs. Curtis Sampson; honorary first vice-regent, Mrs. E. G. Prior; honorary second vice-regent, Mrs. L. A. Genge; first vice-regent, Mrs. Tyrwhitt Drake; second vice-regent, Mrs. L. B. Kent; secretary, Mrs. A. Chisholm; educational secretary, Mrs. P. F. Curtis; Echoes secretary, Miss Clearhue; treasurer, Miss Pitts; standard bearer, Mrs. Guy Ford; head councillor, Mrs. William Bell; councillors, Messrs. Saxton-White, P. F. Forbes, Guitard, Dexter, Stuart Robertson and Misses K. Hall and Alexander.

MUCH GOOD WORK

Mrs. A. Chisholm, the secretary, in her interesting report, noted a total of sixty-three members in good standing. The receipts had amounted to $425.75 and expenditures during the year were $642.90. Assistance had been given to Boy Scouts, Sea Cadets, secondary education bursary, Fleming Ward of the Jubilee Hospital, Queen Alexandra Solarium, Travelers' Aid, Soldiers' Graves, Child Welfare, Christmas hampers, etc. The schools at East Sooke and Pavilion, B.C., each received additions to the libraries formerly donated by the chapter and new $10 library was donated to the North Pine School.

Special reference was made to the work done by the hospital library committee, Mrs. P. F. Curtis and Miss Pitts, and of the hospital work by Mrs. Hugo Beaven, Mrs. Thorpe-Douglas and Miss Ogilvie.

The annual appeal for garments for the Child Welfare work had met with generous response. The Empire Study Group meetings had been well attended and thanks were accorded the speakers.

HOSPITAL LIBRARY

Miss Pitts stated that the weekly visits to fourteen wards of the Royal Jubilee Hospital had been carried on by Mrs. P. F. Curtis and herself, and a total of 5,238 books had been lent to the patients, who look forward eagerly to these visits. One hundred books were donated at last year's shower in connection with the annual meeting and thirty more were given during the year. Miss Pitts referred to the unflinching help of Mr. Percy Hawkins, the lift man at the hospital.

The bridge party to be held tomorrow at the Hudson's Bay Company was discussed, and plans made for the Empire Study Talk by Dr. T. A. Rickard on February 22 at 8:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Nichol.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Sampson entertained the chapter at tea. The table was most attractive with a bowl of Christmas roses and Oregon grape. A generous collection of books for the hospital library was received during the afternoon.

T. B. McKELVING CHAPTER

Mrs. H. G. Bolt was re-elected regent of the Robert Burns McKelving Chap-presented with corsage bouquets. Mrs. Sampson spoke briefly to the members commending them for their benevolent work on behalf of the blind.

SUPPER SERVED

Following the meeting supper was served, the arrangements being in charge of the 1933 executive under the convener of Miss Kathleen Tadmans. Mrs. Nelson Hicks was responsible for the attractive table decorations, which included tall yellow and mauve lighted tapers in silver sconces, with a large silver bowl of tulips and daffodils, with smaller silver bowls of daffodils at the corners of the tables. Presiding at the tea urn was Mrs. H. G. Bolt. The guests were Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. L. A. Genge, Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. H. K. Prior, Miss A. B. Cooke, Mrs. George Miles, Mrs. Shanks, Miss M. Wilson and the honorary regent, Mrs. R. D. McKelving.

VALENTINE HARVEY-BEAUMONT BOGGS CHAPTER

plied to the Solarium. Mrs. F. J. Boughton gave a complete report of the chapter's financial standing. Mrs. W. R. Sayer, as educational secretary, reported on this branch of the work. Mrs. E. Shanks read The Echoes report and Mrs. Peacock the standard bearer's report.

PRESENTATION MADE

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Sayer presented the regent, Mrs. Maunsell, with a lovely potted cyclamen, on behalf of the chapter. The regent thanked the retiring officers for their services during the year, and presented Mrs. F. J. Boughton, the retiring treasurer, with a gift as a token of appreciation.

Tea was served by Mesdames Sayer, Douglas and Maunsell. Mrs. R. B. McKelving was a special guest. Mrs. P. E. George was welcomed as a new member. A number of members promised to attend the tea to be held on Founders' Day, February 13.

JACK-KNIFE USED TO CUT OFF HAND

Associated Press
Miles City, Mont., Feb. 7.—Surgeons and cowhands, accustomed to the ruggedness of the west, to-day marvelled at the stamina of young Mike Vial, Wash Creek rancher.

His right hand nearly severed by a lariat rope with which he had lassoed a steer, the rancher completed the amputation with a jack-knife. "You can tell 'em the yearling cut my hand off," Vial grimly remarked to hospital attendants, "but it didn't get me out of the saddle."

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

EGGS NEED BALANCING FOODS

By SISTER MARY

Eggs are such a versatile food that they deserve special attention in almost any course in a meal and their cheapness this season invites the economical housewife to make use of them frequently.

The food value of eggs is especially noteworthy. They are a rich source of vitamin A, and the D vitamin which is found principally in fish oils is present in the egg yolk in considerable amount. Vitamins B and G also are found in eggs, so you see that all the vitamins except C and E are supplied by this always available food.

As a source of mineral eggs hold an important place. Although poor in calcium they are rich in iron and phosphorus, two minerals necessary for good nutrition.

When it comes to calories, one medium sized egg, weighing about two and one-half ounces in the shell, supplies twenty-five calories of protein and forty-five of fat, making a total of seventy calories.

Although eggs do contain most of the food elements needed by the body for its development, nevertheless they must be properly combined with other foods. Lack of carbohydrates and coarse fibre puts them in the list of foods that tend to produce acidity. Leafy vegetables, fruits and cereals with milk and eggs supply a diet almost perfect in balance of energy value, vitamin content and ash constituents. Eggs can make a splendid first course.

EGG CANAPE

Two hard cooked eggs, four boneless sardines, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, salt and paprika, water to make 8 small rounds of toast, beat onions.

Cut eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks and mash to a paste and season with salt, paprika, lemon juice and mustard. Refill whites and place in ice-box to chill. When ready to serve cut in eight slices and put each slice on a round of toast covered with minced watercress. Drop two or three pearl onions on each canape and serve. Patois de foie gras, deviled ham, anchovy paste and tomato and chutney can be substituted for sardines.

CREAMED EGGS WITH MUSHROOMS

Six hard cooked eggs, 1/2 pound mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 slices toast, cut in slices. Clean mushrooms and cut in slices. Cook in butter for five minutes. Sift over flour and blend thoroughly. Slowly add milk and eggs, constantly stirring. Add salt and pepper to taste. Add salt and cook and stir until sauce boils. Add eggs cut in quarters lengthwise and heat over hot water while making toast. Pour over toast arranged on a hot platter and serve.

EGGS IN NESTS

This is an attractive way to serve eggs for breakfast.

Four eggs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 rounds buttered toast. Separate whites from yolks of eggs, leaving each yolk in its shell until needed. Beat whites until stiff and pile on rounds of toast. Drop one whole egg yolk in centre of each and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in a moderate oven for eight minutes. Serve at once.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Fine British Bill Opened To-day At Capitol

Prince of Wales As Movie Star In Film of His Life

This afternoon for the first time Victorians had an opportunity of viewing in film form the life story of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. This picture has been billed for to-day, Thursday and

Friday at the Capitol Theatre as the main attraction on the "Buy Empire Goods" campaign which manager Ivan Ackery is sponsoring and which has received the support of the I.O.E. and the cooperation of a number of local merchants, whose British products are being displayed in the foyer of the theatre.

The Gainsborough picture of the Prince's life is unique and will no doubt prove a great attraction since it is the first time an attempt has been made to truthfully portray the daily activities of a member of a royal family.

AN ACTIVE LIFE

Few people could have led a life so full of activity as the Prince of Wales. He has traveled everywhere, seen everything and devoted his days to studying the welfare and progress of the people of the British Empire. No task has been too difficult for him, and no human detail, however small, too insignificant for his sympathetic attention.

He was born on June 23, 1894, at White Lodge, Richmond Park. Four royal generations were present at his christening—Queen Victoria, King Edward VII and his father King George V. After the example of his father, he entered the navy. In 1911 he was invested by the King with the insignia of the Order of the Garter at Windsor. This impressive ceremony was followed a month later by his solemn investiture at Carnarvon as Prince of Wales.

From the navy the Prince went up to Magdalen College, Oxford. For two years he lived the life of an undergraduate, dividing his time between the lecture room and the sports field.

JOINED ARMY STAFF

On the outbreak of the war he joined his regiment, the Grenadier Guards, as a second lieutenant, and went to France in November, 1914. That he was attached to the staff, and not allowed to serve in the line, was a serious disappointment to him. His work, however, often took him into the front trenches, and he had many amazing escapes. His war experiences included service, not only in France, but also in Egypt and Italy.

The heavy demands made on him by a life of ceaseless activity call for a high standard of physical fitness. Both from necessity, therefore, and from natural inclination, he has always been a keen sportsman. At Oxford he played soccer, and since then he has indulged in almost every other form of sport. Riding of every kind, including polo, hunting, steeplechasing and point-to-point racing has been one of his favorite pastimes. His golf, too, is of a high standard, and no one has given greater attention than the Prince to studying the finer points of the game.

LIKES AVIATION

Aviation has always appealed to him. He has owned, in succession, no fewer than ten airplanes, and has taken lessons in flying. His keenness, based upon the time-saving value of air transport, has done much to stimulate air-mindedness.

The Prince, whose interests are numerous, is Master of the Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleets. Himself a landowner and farmer, he takes both a personal and a public interest in every agricultural question.

He is the leader of movements to assist ex-service men. He devotes much time to the problems of the slums and of unemployment.

His many visits to areas where economic conditions are hard, his personal contact with workers in mining and other industrial districts, have been of immeasurable value in strengthening the morale of those who are passing through difficult times. He has done much to encourage the Scout movement and takes a marked personal interest in working boys' clubs.

As Colonel of the Welsh Guards, he holds an annual parade wherever the 1st Battalion is stationed on St. David's Day.

The first of his long tours abroad, as ambassador and man of business, was made in 1919. In that year he set off for Canada from Portsmouth, where the King and Queen came to see him off, in H.M.S. Renown.

He first set foot on Canadian soil at St. John, New Brunswick, and from there onwards his progress was triumphal. From St. John he went to Quebec, and then to Ottawa, Toronto, Guelph, Brantford, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, the Indian Reservations, where he was elected a chief, and a dozen other places.

Since 1919 he has visited Canada three times and keeps in constant touch with his ranch near Calgary, Alberta.

His second tour, which occupied most of 1920, took him to Australia and New Zealand, via the Panama Canal, and on the way he called at several of the West Indian islands.

POPULAR IN JAPAN

He made a thorough tour of both the North and South Islands of New Zealand, and then went on to Australia. In 1922 the Prince visited Japan, where his reception was so enthusiastic that it called for the Crown Prince Regent's comment that: "The keenness displayed in welcoming our Royal Highness is as widespread as it is spontaneous."

In 1925 he set out for South Africa, where his welcome was everywhere as enthusiastic as it had been in other parts of the world.

On two occasions the Prince has been an invaluable and popular ambassador to South America, where his command of Spanish allowed of his making speeches in that tongue. It has been rightly said of this royal traveler that he is the most valuable ambassador that ever left the shores of England.

CONSERVATIVE M.P.s IN CAUCUS

Ottawa, Feb. 7 (Canadian Press).—The Conservative members of Parliament held a caucus yesterday at which Premier Bennett discussed briefly the legislation before the House. There was a short discussion on the proposal to appoint a general organizer for the party, but it is understood no action was taken.

Jack Hulbert With Cicely Courtneidge In British Comedy

Famous Stars of England Together in Scintillating Musical Success

Once again lovers of British films and comedy will be afforded an opportunity of seeing England's king and queen of funmakers in action with the first screening of "Falling For You" on the double bill at the Capitol Theatre, which has been specially arranged for the "Buy Empire Goods" campaign this week.

When "Falling For You" company was at work in Switzerland the cold was intense and some members of the company suffered from frost-bites.

The assistant camera man, working all day at subnormal temperatures, found his hands freezing to the camera and had a very uncomfortable time.

SHOT PROVES TITLE

Jack Hulbert and Cicely Courtneidge sell down the mountain side together just to prove conclusively that "Falling For You" is no mere talkie title, but means something.

It happened like this. In one sequence Jack and Cicely, chasing the heroine down giddy slopes, reach a precipice which is supposed to engulf Hulbert. Cicely's job is to save him.

She catches hold of Jack with one hand and with the other clutches a convenient tree.

When the scene was shot, however, Cicely found herself unable to hold on long enough, and let go. Jack fell down and smote his crown and Cicely followed after.

That was a trifle, however. "And if we had showed that shot," said Robert Stevenson, who directed the picture with Mr. Hulbert, people would say it was a fake.

"Nobody has yet made a comedy like this, right away from civilization. It is a big job. We have had to shoot every day at a height of 2,000 feet or so, and sometimes at 8,000 feet in a temperature twenty degrees below zero. And we have had all fresco meals on the mountain tops instead of enjoying the luxury of the studio canteen," Mr. Stevenson says.

One of the high lights is when Jack Hulbert makes a total mess of the ski business. He meets a little girl of five who teaches him how to do it and has been given a big part in the film. Her name is Lilianor Schmidt and her father is a ski-instructor here. She is a real star on the snow and her work is amazing.

FINE SKATING SEEN

Skating enthusiasts will be interested in the fine exhibitions of skating given by Jack Hulbert and Tamara Desni. The former learned to skate while on location in Switzerland making the film, and the latter had lessons at an ice rink. If so both made exceedingly good progress, for they are accomplished skaters and thoroughly at home on skates.

WIFE STORY

The fact that he cannot balance up-right on a pair of ordinary skis annoys Jack Hulbert, but it is good fun and his antics amuse the kiddies.

When feeling serious, which is seldom, Jack endeavors to retain a position as reporter on a leading newspaper. His most serious rival is Minnie Tucker, and it does not improve his style or his holiday to meet her in the same Swiss hotel.

At the hotel arrives a young woman named Soudra von Heyden, with her aunt. She is rich and has escaped from a central European country to avoid a marriage she dislikes. Her movements are "news."

Unaware of her identity, Jack falls head over heels in love with her, while the observant Minnie telephones to the paper the inside story of the missing heiress.

Soudra leaves for England, followed by Minnie, her would-be husband, Karl, and the tenacious Jack.

Minnie, complete with wig and an extra set of teeth, visits Soudra in her cabin, in the hope of getting further news.

Still oblivious of the fact that the heiress she seeks is the girl he is in love with, Jack also visits the cabin of the runaway, and is greeted by a grim-looking spinster with a mouthful of teeth, who willingly gives him a story.

Minnie puts one across her hated rival, and it is a foolish Jack, limp with rage, who stands before his fuming editor and a delighted Minnie, while his "exclusive" is torn to bits.

Not to be beaten Jack gets in touch with "Sausage," an old schoolmate, to see if he can help him get his story on the missing Soudra.

"Sausage" comes from Soudra's country and Jack is delighted to learn that he knows her whereabouts. What he does not know is that "Sausage" is Karl, the dastardly villain planning to kidnap the poor girl, incidentally the girl he wants to marry.

Jack takes Jack to the country house, where Soudra is hiding, but Jack is refused entry. However, a passing sweep gives the persistent newshound an idea, and he enters the house to steal the champagne, but his bright plan miscarries when he meets the cook—Minnie!

The plot to kidnap Soudra materializes and Jack finds himself playing many peculiar roles, before he and Minnie decide to co-operate and dash to Switzerland to save Soudra from Karl.

HOT ON THE TRAIL

Jack at last proves his skill on a pair of skis, on which he victoriously chases the villain, while Minnie gives a remarkable display of how to luge on a cabin trunk.

The villain is overthrown, the story "scoped" and the right girl, heroically won.

larily noticeable in radio sales. He felt that the swing towards prosperity was not due alone to the economic improvement throughout Canada, but to the fact that the development of radio had increased to such an extent during the last year and was a factor in boosting sales of sets.

In all lines of Victor machines, quality, selectivity, set structure and engineering improvements had been developed to a high degree, said Mr. Forbes in explaining the development of the new Victor "Tona-Lite" set.

The Victor Talking Machine Company believes in newspaper advertising and in this connection, Mr. Forbes said: "During the last three or four years our firm has continued its policy of extensive advertising. We have recently conducted a strong and far-reaching fall advertising programme, and plans are now under way for similar campaigns during the spring and summer months. We have great faith in newspaper advertising. Our campaigns are launched so that we may reap any benefits that may accrue from such advertising when conditions improve, and there are now distinct signs that such is the case."

SEARCH FOR EX-TREASURER

Seattle, Feb. 7 (Associated Press).—Prosecutor Robert M. Burgunder had disclosed to-day he was investigating reports that the missing King County treasurer, George O. Wittenmyer, had lavished gifts of currency on certain unnamed women, taken directly from his office vault. One of them involved a purported gift of $40 only a short time before his disappearance two weeks ago to a woman waiting in his office, he said. Another involved the financing of a night club party.

How To Get Rid of Gloomy Birds

New law in Turkey requires every male inhabitant up to the age of sixty to bring to police each month at least one crow, dead or alive, or pay a heavy fine, crows being disliked as "birds of ill-omen." Well, it's not in Turkey only that birds of ill-omen are squawking, but it's best to leave them alone, attend to one's own business and improve it by using The Times classified ads.

LIFE OF WALES SHOWING HERE

Capitol Theatre Features Interesting Picture; Jack Hulbert Also Starred

The first feature on the Capitol Theatre programme to-day is "The Prince of Wales," a picture giving a synopsis of this life of the heir to the British Throne.

There is a side to "The Prince of Wales" which should arouse interest quite apart from the prince. His own growth and that of the moving picture industry have moved simultaneously.
From 1911 to the present day the technique of the cinematograph has undergone enormous improvement and much of it is visible in the amazing record of a much-travelled young man.

Also being shown is Jack Hulbert in "Falling For You." Cleo Courtneidge is co-starred with Hulbert in this riotous musical hit, but Miss Desai is the heart and eye appeal of the story.
This is her first important film part.
She is eighteen and rather inexperienced.
But she has charm and grace, as well as being an expert figure skater.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
The "Mistress Mary quite Contrary" of legendary fame has been found in the guise of one of Hollywood's favorite ingenues, Leila Hyams.

While working on location during the filming of the early sequences of "Horse Play," Universal's comedy, co-starring Slim Summerville and Andy Devine, appearing at the Columbia Theatre, Miss Hyams, who plays the feminine lead, was crossed by a scampering black cat which had strayed from the nearby ranch house. The incident occasioned the query from Edward Sedgwick, the director, as to whether or not she was superstitious.

"This is the first time I've told this,
and you can believe it or not," responded Miss Hyams. "But only superstition" is the number "13," it has followed me for years and proven a lucky one."

Great Cast In New Picture

The all-star picture for which the public has been waiting, "Dinner at Eight," will be shown for one week commencing Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

One of the finest casts ever assembled for a motion picture includes
John and Lionel Barrymore, Wallace
Berry, Marie Dressler, Jean Harlow,
Jean Hallow, Madge Evans, Edmund
Lowe, Billie Burke and Lee Tracy.

The story gives individual characterization and many big scenes with amazing dramatic climax.

Wonder Dog Of Movies Coming

Silver King, the wonder dog of the movies and grandson of the famous Strongheart, will make his first appearance here Saturday afternoon at the Empire Theatre to start a week's engagement as the stage attraction. His life is insured by Lloyd's for $50,000.

Silver King is endowed with almost human intelligence, which will be displayed on the stage.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE
With that romance of poignant memories, "Bitter Sweet," revived in the form of an elaborately beautiful film production, at the Playhouse Theatre, what more appropriate moment to dwell sentimentally on its American entrepreneur, Flo Ziegfeld.

It has been but little more than a year since the great glorifier passed on to realms of greater mystery. "Bitter Sweet" is the first thing to be seen on Broadway since then that has borne his name.

DOMINION THEATRE
Eddie Cantor says that Hollywood has made a family man out of him again.

"My family and I are strangers when I work on Broadway," says the comedian. "In California, we live like human beings. We get up, we go to work, we come home and eat and sleep.
Artists stop being long-haired artists.
They get comparatively sensible. They learn to save money. I did."

"Roman Scandals," Cantor's new screen musical comedy for Samuel Goldwyn, released by United Artists, is showing at the Dominion Theatre.

EMPIRE THEATRE
A railroad romance with more than its share of thundering thrills, wild rides on runaway trains plus a delightful romance is "Dangerous Crossroads," the Columbia melodrama, now showing at the Empire Theatre, Chic
Sale, Jackie Seale and Diane Sinclair appear in the principal roles of the production, directed by Lambert Hill-yer. It is full of action, and from beginning to end contains laugh after laugh, largely because of the homely and likeable characterization of an old engineer, presented by the ever popular Chic Sale.

Canada's Position Outlined to Club

Canada's position in the British Commonwealth of Nations and her de-monies formed the theme of an interesting address by Col. D. McGugan before the Round Table Club in Speedie's
Cafe yesterday evening.

Various features of the Statute of Westminster and this country's standing regarding the Locarno Pact, and the Lausanne Treaties were explained by the speaker, who quoted outstanding authorities to substantiate his statements.

Col. McGugan was warmly thanked for his interesting and instructive address.

ST. MICHAEL'S A.Y.P.A.
The regular meeting of St. Michael's A.Y.P.A. was held on Saturday, with the president in the chair. Twenty-five members and one visitor were present. An invitation from St. Mary's
A.Y.P.A. regarding their at-home on Wednesday, February 7, was received;
and another from St. Mark's A.Y.P.A. inviting the company to their dance on February 9. All members are asked to be sure to attend the Valentine social on February 10. Plans were completed for the concert to be held on Tuesday, February 6, in Royal Oak Hall. The meeting was followed by a musical programme arranged by Dick Oldfield. All members are asked to re-

Prospects for This Year's Running of Caliente Handicap

Gallant Sir Must Shatter Jinx to Repeat Last Year's Victory

Firm Pays Transfer Fee When Cardiff City Gets New Footballer

THE WISE FELLOWS at Agua Caliente are already expecting Gallant Sir to repeat his easy 1933 victory in this year's running of the $25,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, major event of the winter horse racing season, on March 18. But Norman Church's big horse is due for competition from at least a dozen of the forty-two nominees. Those disagreeing with the wise ones offer a number of reasons. Trainers claim Gallant Sir's injured leg will be better by March, but one never can tell. The defender will pick up four pounds in a weight adjustment. And there is that jinx that year-old jinx that they don't repeat in the Caliente Handicap.

An even dozen with a good chance to win are: Kerry Patch, Sweeping Light, Contraband, Gay World, Part Mutual, Oak Park, Waylayer, Yonkel, Onrush, Fickle Chance, Boardwalk and Kiskadee. Kerry Patch is in light training and last fall was running with the best eastern handicap horses. He won one important race and reached his best form since winning the Belmont Stakes as a two-year-old. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney is the owner of Contraband, who has collected several handicaps and is now campaigning at New Orleans.

Sweeping Light is a stamper that has been up and down. Gay World was victorious in the Chicago Derby at Hawthorne last summer, beating Mr. Kinsman and other crack three-year-olds. He recently bested some smart fields in Texas. Part Mutual is an old state horse that likes the route and could lead the pack if in top form. He is pretty sure to set a pace.

Waylayer and Yonkel, owned by Bert Baroni, are threats. Waylayer ran second to Gallant Sir in last year's race and Yonkel picked up a handicap at Chicago and another in Texas in 1933. Onrush has shown speed up to a mile and a half, and is a three-year-old. Boardwalk took most of the money at Tanforan's last meeting. Kiskadee, a Kentucky Derby prospect and stablemate of Gallant Sir, is well liked by Track Handicapper Webb and is expected to put him on top among the three-year-olds with 108 pounds.

Then there is the Britisher, Craig Park, to contend with. So big that they had to tear out an end of his box car to get his noggin under the usual door, the Britisher has been the predecessor of British Challenger II and Boy Painter. He was a nice stake winner in England, and is coming to California with owner R. Gelliey of Vancouver, B.C.

The four-year-olds in the Caliente Handicap may or may not keep Gallant Sir out of the money. But the fact remains that no horse has won the event more than once. Following are winners of the classic, which was not renewed between 1917 and 1921 because of the Caliente fire.

Sasin, 1917; Be Frank, 1921; Mulchier, 1922; Rebuke, 1923; Runstar, 1924; Altheberton, 1925; 1926; Sir Harry, 1927; Crystal Pennant, 1928; Golden Prince, 1929; Victorian, 1930; Mike Hall, 1931; Phar Lap, 1932, and Gallant Sir, 1933. In the four-year-old runnings, more than $500,000 has been given to horsemen. Total purses of $100,000 were reached in 1930, 1930 and 1931.

Heavy drama has been written more than once during running of the Mexican race. In 1924 there was a three-horse finish. A. B. Speecher, with leaden eyes, greeted his California-bred Runstar, achieving the happiest moment in his life. Finishing as if lashed to the winner were Caprice, sent by August Belmont to the coast, and Baron Long's Cherry Tree. The gallant Extremist, then near retirement, ran and was fourth.

Perhaps the 1922 running was even more dramatic. A horse named black Vulcan from New York, took the race from Rife and Regresso at long odds. The purse was $15,000 that was surely needed by G. E. Allen, Mulchier's owner. It enabled him to finance a law defence for a relative in Tennessee, and in reality meant the difference between life and death.

In 1923 there was a rainy day fight between Altheberton, General Thatcher and Spic and Span. The former, racing for the perfume king, Victor Vivado, scored in a rough and tumble stretch run. Altheberton's jockey had saved him from death in a stable fire.

A novel football deal was completed by Cardiff City recently when it successfully negotiated the transfer of R. Keating, the Bath City centre-forward. It was announced that the fee, a substantial one, has been paid by a well-known business firm in the city.

In paying for Keating that firm states that football is a business asset to the city of Cardiff and should be encouraged. Cardiff City have just embarked on a bold policy to win back their old place in the football world and have appealed to the local firms for financial assistance.

A few seasons ago a woman supporter of Manchester United gave the cheque which enabled the United to sign McLaughlin from Cardiff City.

It is not expected that any move will be made yet regarding the successor to the late Herbert Chapman as manager of the Arsenal Football Club. It is only natural that, there should be much speculation.

New Yorkers Beat Flying Frenchmen And Bolster Lead

Lester Patrick's Club Blanks Canadiens 3 to 0; Maroons Take Ottawa

AMERICANS WHIP BOSTON BRUINS

A latent scoring punch, concealed so long, Montreal Maroons hardly knew themselves it existed, is being carefully nurtured to-day by Manager Eddie Gerard, who figures it is the only weapon he needed to bring his Montrealers a playoff position.

Maroons trotted out their concealed threat at the Montreal Forum yesterday evening and used it to whip Ottawa Senators, 6 to 2, tying them for the National Hockey League's Canadian division second spot with Canadiens, shut out, 3 to 0, by Andy Aitkenhead and New York Rangers.

Lester Patrick's team used the win to give them a three-point lead over Detroit and a margin of four over Chicago in the United States division, more than they have enjoyed in ages. Now Patrick can sit back and watch Tommy Gorman and Jack Adams pit Black Hawks against Red Wings Thursday night with the comforting thought neither can take over the leadership. Ottawa's loss yesterday evening and New York American's 1 to 0 win over Bruins in Boston just about counted Senators and Art Ross's team out of contention for playoff positions. While they both have mathematical chances, and will have for some games yet, their recent showings have led followers to believe they will be on the outside looking in when the money series starts.

COMMANDING LEAD Maroons scored three goals yesterday evening before Senators could sandwich in a pair and they counted three more after the Ottawans had finished beating Dave Kerr. Russell Blanco, Maroons' senior recruit, sent the Gerardmen on their way in the first period and Hooley Smith and Glen Brydson got the other two of the first.

Sid Howe, fiery young Ottawa, put Senators in the scoring column three minutes before the first period ended and Bill Touhey, their second goal early in the middle frame. Brydson scored again in the second period and Jimmy Ward also contributed in that frame. Herb Cain got their third-period goal. Hooley Smith counted two assists as well as his goal.

Bill Cook tried hard for his 200th National League goal but couldn't click against Canadiens. Rangers scored once in each period on speedy thrusts which best advantage of infrequent lapses of the Canadiens' defence. Ben Cook got the first-period tally. Murray Murdoch scored in the second and Ott Heller got his first goal this season in the third.

Aitkenhead was unbeatable in the Ranger nets. Canadiens played fine, fast hockey and fired forty-six shots at the New Yorker.

Eddie Burke was the hero of the Americans-Boston encounter, scoring the first goal of the game in the second period on a rink-wide pass from Klein. Both are members of the "former Bruins" section of the American Club.

Boston tried hard to chalk up a win but their attack was disorganized and Roy Worters, American netminder, refused to fall victim to their power play. Lineups and summaries follow.

Canadiens—Chabot, S. Mantha, Carson, Moreau, Gagnon and Joliat. Subs: Larocque, Mondou, Lepine, G. Mantha, Godin, Riley, Bourgeois and Portland.

Rangers—Aitkenhead, Seibert, Johnson, Boucher, W. Cook and F. Cook. Subs: Ripley, Dillon, Murdoch, Keating, Cox, Oumundson, Dutkowski, Brenhan and Heller.

HIGH TAKES RUGBY GAME

Surplus Scores as Fernwood Boys Down University School 3 to 0

Playing on a muddy field, Victoria High School fifteen gained a 13 to 0 victory over the University School yesterday on the Mount Tolmie pitch. The play was evenly divided, both teams playing a strictly defensive game. High School went over late in the second half when Surplus took a pass from Andrews on the University twenty-five-yard line with only the fullback to beat.

University School picked off and plunged deep into High School territory and stayed there for an anxious ten minutes. High School forwards finally broke through and dribbled half the field before they were stopped. Both the High and University three-quarters had plenty of opportunities for fumbling at times proved costly. The game sawsawed with neither team pressing much, the half ending with the play at centre.

SLIGHT EDGE The Fernwood boys had a slight edge on the play in the second session, but they could not break the University defence. Late in the second half George Andrews of High School, took the ball and raced down the sideline for twenty yards and hooked a pretty pass to School—Mason, Ferguson, Leonard, Andrews, Shepherd, Gaunt, Surplus, Kirkbride, Langdon, Rowlands, Guelph, Croft, Winsby, Painter, Ross and Simpson.

They are: Boston: Eddie Shore and Nels Stewart; Canadiens: Howie Moreau and Aurel Joliat; Chicago: Chabot and Gardiner; and Lionel Conacher; Detroit: Herb Lewis and Larry Aurie; Montreal: Hooley Smith and Jimmy Ward; N.Y. Americans: Red Dutton and Normie Himes; N.Y. Rangers: Bill Cook and Ching Johnson; Ottawa: Frank Klinegan and Allan Shields.

The team will be managed by Lester Patrick of New York Rangers. Referees: M. J. Rodden and R. W. Hewitson will be the officials in charge.

The all-star team was selected by President Calder, Managing Director Patrick and Governor Thomas Arnold of the N.H.L.

All proceeds from the game will be given to the (Ace) Bailey, member of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who was injured in the Boston fracas several weeks ago. As a result of the mix-up Eddie Shore, stellar defenceman of the Boston team, and Red Horner, defenceman of the Toronto club, both drew suspensions. Shore was put out for sixteen games and Horner for six.

After the suspensions had been handed out by managing-director Patrick the Toronto club was responsible for a special meeting of the board of governors of the league to find who should bear the expenses resultant from Bailey's injury. It was decided to stage the charity game between the all-star club and the Toronto Leafs.

The game is expected to draw one of the largest crowds in the history of professional hockey.

Tickets for the show may be secured at A. B. Richardson's, 795 Yates Street.

THISTLES TO WORKOUT Spanish Thistles Football Club will hold a workout at the Astoria Park to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Much Speculation On Local Players For Rugger Jaunt

Several Victoria Players Have Good Chance to Make California Trip

Keen Opposition From Mainlanders

While rugby officials, entrusted with the job of deciding who will represent Victoria on the All-British Columbia team scheduled to open a tour of California on March 3, waited for word from Vancouver to learn what positions were to be filled by Capital City players, speculation went ahead locally as to who would be given the call for the tour.

It will be no easy task to select the seven or eight local boys for the trip. Recently developed stars in the city face exceptionally keen opposition in their fights for places by the Vancouver and Varsity men.

Roddy McInnes, who played fullback for the provincial team during its last year, will have to compete against such men as Brand of Varsity for the post. Then, too, there are several other boys working out well as fullbacks in the city.

Wally Stipe, who has come ahead as one of the best scrum halves developed here in recent years, faces such men as Derry Tye, smart scrum half for Varsity.

Paul Rowe, who has shone as five-eighths for the Fifth Brigade, would have to stack up against men of Tommy Roxborough's calibre.

Of those who represented Victoria in 1933, Pete Turgoose, slipperyhipped Bays inside three, looks to have as good a chance of repeating as anyone.

Among forwards, Vic Rogers, star scrum leader for the rowing club, should have a fair chance if his temperamental knoe does not give out on him. Bob Engelson, of the Gunners, who made the trip last year, might also be considered strongly among the list of probable players.

Beckett has not yet been recognized by the McKinnon Cup selection committee, but to the side-line dopers he looks to be the closest approach the city has seen to men of the stature of Godfrey Wenman and Johnny Rowland in this year's play.

If the selectors are looking for youth, speed and ball-handling ability in the backline, they may cast their eyes at young Ken Fleming.

CLUB STALWARTS Outstanding among the lists of the Navy is Chuck McDonald, backfield ace who has been playing regularly on the local level since he was a teenager. He is inclined to favor Dug King, forward of the Wanderers, who was among the chosen for the last tour.

Other husky boys of undoubted merit in local circles include such men as Harry Peard of the Bays, and Buzz Brown, fly half of the carmen.

Just how the city will manage to get its team to the Mainlanders Victoria know what positions they want filled. In the meantime anybody's guess is fair.

Chinese Students gained the right to enter the play-offs by virtue of their regular five into action against the Mount Tolmie Cougars. The fair sex game between the Adverts and Standard Steam Laundry should be a productive of some good basketball.

HARRY COOPER REMAINS OUT

Florida Racing Commission Upholds Suspension of Canadian Over Dope Charges

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7.—The Florida Racing Commission yesterday upheld its suspension of Edward Haughton, Kentucky trainer, and Harry Cooper, Vancouver, B.C., but absolved Nat Ray, one-time famous steeplechase rider, of any irregularity in the running of his horses.

The commission broadened its ban against stimulating or "doping" horses, but laid down definite provisions by which a horse' needing medication could be withdrawn from a race.

Horsemen had complained many times of the tonics and patented medicines given horses contained either narcotics or chemicals in small quantities which came within the ban of the commission. Ray was suspended by the stewards of Hialeah Park last week after the track's chemist reported traces of a stimulant had been found in the saliva taken from Kiltanmod, a Ray-trained horse, after the race.

Cooper was debarred after federal agents reported they found a quantity of an alleged narcotic in his home. He is at liberty under bond in state and federal narcotic cases.

Both were given permission by the commission yesterday to sell horses racing in their name.

WALLACE IS BOUT WINNER

Vancouver Boxer Takes Nod From Bobby Pachio; Meets Young Peter Jackson

Seattle, Feb. 7.—Gordon Wallace, cloutling young lightweight of Vancouver, B.C., to-day stood ready to tackle Young Peter Jackson, highly touted Los Angeles negro fighter, after making good in his test here yesterday evening.

The Washington State Boxing Commission a week ago refused to sanction a fight between Wallace and Jackson until the Canadian had faced stronger competition, and the youngster yesterday evening scored a decision over Bobby Pachio, Los Angeles Mexican, his "trial horse."

There was little to choose between the two fighters until the last round, when Wallace staggered Pachio and was credited with a knockdown when he cracked the Mexican at the same time Jackson flouted Los Angeles. Pachio slipped, and was up in an instant and going strong at the finish. The Canadian weighed 137 pounds and Pachio 137½.

Cochet Predicts U.S. Victory In Davis Cup Tennis

Famous French Player Arrives at New York to Prepare For Pro Series

TO MEET VINES ON FEBRUARY 19

New York, Feb. 7.—One long loud vote for the United States Davis Cup team was registered yesterday by Monsieur Henri Cochet, who spent most of his tennis career fighting Americans.

But times have changed, and with them opinions, and yesterday M. Cochet of France, once champion of all the amateurs, foundation stone of his nation's Davis Cup forces arrived from South America for his professional tour with Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines.

"Most certainly," he said—in a liberal translation of his French and what English he has picked up in the last seven years receiving the congratulations of most of the American stars after the completion of important matches—"the Americans will win."

"The English, no, no. One year they will hold the Davis Cup. The Australians, they are dangerous. But America, ah!"

There were more "ahs" before the explanation.

"Your doubles team, always it wins. No one can beat George Lott and his partner, either John Van Ryn or Wilmer Allison. So there, you have one point to start with."

VINES GREAT PLAYER

"Vines, he is a great player," said Cochet. "He was superb when he beat me, 6-4, 6-4 in your national championships in 1923. Tilden, ah, he goes on forever. For seven years, since Germantown, he does not beat me. Then in Paris, last year, I make my first professional match. Pook, he runs me over in straight sets."

"But," he laughed, and his sun-browned face crinkled all over, "the French roosters will beat them this time."

The other half of the "French roosters" is Martin Plais, French professional, who, like Cochet, is thirty-two and just completed with him a South American tour in which Henri won all twelve matches. On February 19 in Madison Square Garden Cochet plays Vines and Tilden oppose Plais. Two days later, in the same arena, they switch opponents. Plais arrived here today.

Savoldi, who weighed 310 pounds, just 100 pounds lighter than his opponent, used a drop kick to win.

REDS SECURE DAZZY VANCE

Former Speedball King of National Baseball League Traded to Cincinnati

New York, Feb. 7.—From behind a barrage of several thousand words of baseball gossip and rumor, as the National League wound up its midwinter session, there had emerged today the somewhat poignant fact that Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, for seven successive years of his prime the "fireball" king among pitchers, has been sold to Cincinnati by St. Louis Cardinals at the value price of $7,500.

Now, hearing his forty-first birthday and after a major league record that stretches back to 1915, Vance has little of the old "smoke" left.

The league formally adopted its 1934 schedule, which calls for the opening of the season on April 17 and has been so rearranged, President Heydler explained, to cut down the year's traveling for all clubs by 10,000 miles.

Although no formal action was taken on the subject, it is understood the big leagues have agreed to adopt a system of numbering the backs of players' uniforms this year, to make it easier for the fans to identify their favorites.

ORIENT TENNIS TOUR NOT SURE

Tilden's Group Wants $12,000 to Play Exhibition Matches in Japan

St. Louis, Feb. 7.—Bill O'Brien, a manager of the touring professional tennis group headed by Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines, said here yesterday evening that a proposed trip to the Orient depended upon whether the Japanese Tennis Association meets his financial demands.

The Japanese association first offered $8,000, then increased it to $10,000. O'Brien said, "while we have demanded $12,000. We'll make the trip only if we get the money we have asked."

Under the tentative schedule, the professional stars would spend the first two weeks of October in China and the first two weeks of November in the Philippines. He said they also would play in Honolulu if the trip is made, but that tentative dates for the trip had not been set.

Young Vancouver Centre Leads Northwest League Scorers With 29 Points

Calgary, Feb. 7.—The race for scoring honors in the Northwest Hockey League has narrowed down to three or possibly four players as this week's unofficial statistics are tallied. Clint Smith, youthful Vancouver centre star, holds first place with twenty-nine points, two points ahead of Art Gagne, Edmonton, right wing veteran, who in turn is in front of Dutch Gainer, Calgary pivotman, by a single point.

He has also set up a mark in clean play with only one penalty this season. Gagne has combined thirteen goals and fourteen assists for a total of twenty-seven. His assist total ties him for first place in this line with Gordon Evans, stocky forward of the last place, Portland Buckaroos. Gainer has thirteen goals and an equal number of assists for his third place position. Four points behind him comes even with 8-14-22, and another three points in the rear come Charlie Mason and Jimmy Arnot, both of Vancouver Lions.

His mate, Ernie Kenny, has spent fifty-four minutes of enforced idleness. Other "bad men" in the league are the Hemmerling brothers, Rusty of Portland, with fifty-four minutes, and Tony of Seattle, with fifty.

Winnipeg Closing Wheat Quotations Above Day's Low

Winnipeg, Feb. 7.—Wheat prices followed the Chicago market to lower ground on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day and finished with losses of 1/2 to 3/4 cent. Closing quotations, however, were slightly above the day's low points. May wheat ended at 68 1/2 with July at 70 cents.

Expectation of rain in southwestern States weakened values on the Chicago exchange. Winnipeg quotations, lacking any constructive buying, were easily influenced by action of the southern market.

Offerings were not heavy, but buying was very restricted and not sufficient to absorb the meagre selling that came into the pit from time to time.

Export sales were small and shippers ventured no figure on the movement.

CHAPTER II

That was the way the Paige mystery started, on the fifth day of October—a mystery so horrible, so amazing in its intricacies, so startling in its denouement that it has gone down in the history of Maryland criminology as The Great Paige Case. Not only did it involve the wealthiest and most exclusive social set of this southern city, but it created as much interest and received as much newspaper publicity as any case which ever happened in the entire south.

At the time when this story broke, I was the chief crime investigator of a chain of newspapers. It was my job to cover and to investigate any outstanding murder or criminal case regardless of the section of the country in which it might have happened, but my home office was located in Baltimore, and my activities, as a rule, were confined to the eastern section of the United States. Let it be clearly understood, however, that I was a reporter first and last, and not a detective except in the most amateurish sort of way.

The Paige case, at its beginning, had nothing to particularly distinguish it from hundreds of similar cases. The young Paige couple had led the life common to their status in society, racing cards, night clubs, dancing. They had been married some three years, and although on the surface, their lives seemed harmonious and happy, it was a well known fact that Ranny had never abandoned his bachelor days nor considered that he had a wife to whom he had pledged his honor and fidelity. There had never been an open scandal, but it was no uncommon thing to encounter Ranny Paige at some questionable night club with a more than questionable companion.

Their home was located upon a section of the main Paige estate. It had been built for Ranny by his father, old Colonel Paige, who had given it to the couple as a wedding gift, just as he had given his other two sons similar houses which also stood upon the place. Of money, the young Paiges had little—Sunny, none at all, it was said, and Ranny only a small amount that he earned in his father's bank. Some day, when the old man died—and he was already in his eighties—he would be rich, vastly so, but at the time of this story it must have been a somewhat difficult matter for a couple to live in the manner in which they did and to maintain the social position to which they were both accustomed.

Here is the story which Ranny Paige told first to Dr. Warner, and early the next morning to Coroner Arthur B. Mason of Baltimore County. It brought no new angle into the tragedy and served to strengthen the conclusions already reached by the physician and the police.

It could have been only a few minutes after Officer Carroll had started his motorcycle back toward Towson before Ranny drove full speed down the state road, ran his car into his garage, and let himself into his home with a latch key. The front door was locked.

He had been in Washington on business and was much later than he had expected to be—it was then almost two o'clock. He had telegraphed his wife earlier in the evening that he would be delayed, but he was pleased to see a light in her little boudoir or sitting room on the second floor which meant that she was still waiting up for him. A dim night was burning in the main entrance hall on the first floor.

He called upstairs to his wife, but received no reply. Dropping his hat and light overcoat in the hallway, he ran up the stairs, and was slightly surprised to see that the door of her room was closed.

He knocked lightly, before entering, because he feared that he had fallen asleep and he did not wish to frighten her.

Again receiving no answer, he opened the door softly. A dreadful sight met his eyes. The body of his young wife was dangling from the end of a yellow cord attached to the chandelier.

She was dressed in a yellow silk afternoon gown, and it was the silk belt of this dress that she had used to accomplish her purpose. One little gilt slipper was stuck on her foot, the other had fallen to the floor. Directly beneath her was an overturned straight chair.

Ranny knew at once that she was dead, for her face was blackened and swollen, her eyes protruding, her tongue, three times its natural size, hanging from her mouth. Upon her breast glinted a handsome pearl pendant, set in thirty-four rose diamonds, once the property of the late Casarina of Russia. It had been given to Mrs. Paige as a wedding gift from her father.

With what was almost miraculous coolness under the circumstances, Paige had drawn out a pocket knife and cut the cord which held her on a day bed. He had bent over her and touched her hand and had called her name but had made no effort to revive her, knowing well that the loss was beyond help. Instead he had rushed to the telephone and sent his frantic call to the Towson police station.

After listening to this story and making an examination of the body and satisfying himself that there had been neither assault nor robbery, Coroner Mason announced that he would bring in a verdict of suicide. By a rare stroke of good luck, however, he summoned a professional photographer from Towson and had two official photographs made—one of the body itself and one of the death chamber.

Mr. Paige, almost demented with grief, closed the house and moved his quarters to a Baltimore hotel. Mrs. Paige's body was removed to a local undertaking establishment and plans were well under way for the funeral. Here the case threatened to close, and here, indeed, it would have closed had it not been for Patrolman Carroll. This young officer, recalling the man he had seen entering the house the night before at a time closely approximating the moment of Sunny's death (Dr. Mason estimated that she had been dead not more than an hour), went to the office of Chief-Inspector Everett A. Anderson in the headquarters of the police department in Baltimore.

Now a rather curious state of affairs prevails among the police force of the State of Maryland. The Governor not only appoints the Commissioner of Police but the entire state and city departments as well. This means that the detectives of Baltimore are at the beck and call of any Maryland county, so that in the unravelling of a crime, it is easy to see what a hardship this works upon occasion. The detectives do not approach a case until the local force has failed in its efforts to solve it. Sometimes this is a matter of weeks. Then the witnesses have scattered and the scene of the crime has been disturbed with the consequent loss of any vital clue. People who might have come forward at the time with information are now as dumb as oysters, for it is a well-known fact that persons who will give information gladly at the time when the crime is hot and the newspapers are full of it, a little later cannot be induced to recall a single thing in connection with it. These points all retard the working out of the case and, in case of a failure, the defeat is charged against the central force.

Hence Carroll, in going to the inspector instead of to the local Towson police, was well within his province. Anderson listened to the officer's report carefully.

Uncle Wiggily's Snow Man

By Howard R. Garis

"Well, boys, do you think you can play by yourselves now?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the dogs, goats, ducks and other animal boys in the snow fort he had helped them to make.

"Oh, yes, thank you, Uncle Wiggily," barked Pettie Bow Wow. "Now that you made such a good shot at the Wolf's nose and drove him away and the other Bad Chaps, too, I'm sure we will have no more trouble. We'll have a snow fight among ourselves."

"If those Bad Chaps don't come back," said Tumble Kat. "They won't come back any more. I'm sure their noses are too sore!" bleated Billie Wagtail, a boy goat. Everyone laughed when Billie said this and Sammie Littletail, leaping to the top of one of the fort walls, shouted:

"The Bad Chaps are running back into the woods!" And so they were. The Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat had had enough trying to snowball fight with Uncle Wiggily and his boy animal friends.

Mr. Longears had helped the boys make a snow fort after school and it was hardly finished before along came the Bad Chaps. But now everything seemed to be all right.

"Now we must divide into two parties," said Sammie Littletail, who was one of the captains. "One bunch of boys must stay in the fort to defend it and the other bunch must try to storm it from outside. Then we'll have a grand fight."

"But only with snowballs," barked Jackie Bow Wow. "Sure; only with snowballs," agreed Sammie. "We won't have a fist fight, of course."

"And only soft snowballs," said Charlie Chick, who had been hit on the back when the Bad Chaps threw part of an ice ball at him. "Sure, only soft snowballs," bleated Billie Wagtail. "Any fellow who puts a stone or a horse chestnut inside a snowball to make it harder can't be in the fort fight."

So they all agreed to this and Uncle Wiggily, seeing that everything around the fort was going along nicely, started to hop off by himself to have an adventure.

"For," he said, twinkling his pink nose upside down for a change, "I don't call it an adventure just to throw snowballs at three Bad Chaps and bang one of them in the eye or something like that."

Of course, you or I would call that quite an adventure, I think. But Uncle Wiggily was different. He wanted really a thrilling adventure.

"And I think I may find it by hopping over the fields and through the woods," said the rabbit gentleman.

So away he hopped, leaving the animal boys to have a jolly good snowball fight back at the fort among themselves. "Now for my adventure," said Uncle Wiggily.

But, strange as it may seem, all the adventures seemed to be away either playing tag or hide-and-go-seek, the bunny uncle could not tell which. Anyhow, there was none in the woods and none in the fields and though Mr. Longears looked carefully here and there and everywhere he could find none.

It was now getting rather late and dark, as it does somewhat early in the afternoon around Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains, so Uncle Wiggily said:

"Well, I think I shall have no adventure to-day. I might as well go back to my bungalow and try again to-morrow. But I think on my way home I'll pass by the fort. I suppose the animal boys will have stopped playing by the time I get there. But I'll just take a look around to make sure none of them lost an eye or an ear or a tooth in the jolly snowball fighting."

Uncle Wiggily soon reached the snow fort. As he had supposed, the animal boys had gone home. And Uncle Wiggily was just about to say home on his own account when, all of a sudden, coming around a corner of the fort he heard voices.

"Maybe we can catch a stray one!" growled a voice the rabbit knew to be that of the Wolf.

"Oh, the Bad Chaps have come back!" thought the rabbit. "They'll see me here and, nibble me! How can I hide! I know! I'll turn myself into a snow man!" Quickly Uncle Wiggily rolled himself in the snow and it stuck to him, clinging all over until, when he stood up, he looked just like a funny snow man.

Then along came the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat. They looked at the rabbit gentleman who stood very still. "Only a snow man those boys made!" snarled the Fox. "We can't eat him." So the Bad Chaps ran away and Mr. Longears, shaking the snow off him, ran home to his bungalow and all was well. And if the hot cross buns will smile at the loaf of bread, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Tootsie's doll.

Prince Visits Naval Vessels

Simonstown, South Africa, Feb. 7.—With the customary naval ceremonial Prince George, who is starting a long tour of South Africa, was welcomed yesterday to the Simonstown naval base, headquarters of the African station of the Royal Navy.

After a civic reception, the King's youngest son, clad in white naval uniform and wearing the ribbon of the Order of the Garter, visited the training ship General Botha and then went aboard the cruiser Dorsetshire, flagship of Vice-Admiral E. R. G. Evans—"Evans of the Broken."

On the flagship His Royal Highness inspected companies from various ships of the squadron.

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 7.—Tentative arrangements announced today for the visit several months hence of Prince George, who will also visit New Zealand, provide for his arrival at Fremantle, October 4. He will come direct to Melbourne to attend centenary celebrations of Victoria State. Later he will visit all the other states including Tasmania, before going to New Zealand.

TO THE MAYOR

are out of our reach, and where our debt can no longer be liquidated at will, as in the old days.

It will, therefore, be self-evident to the majority of our people, that if we are to return to an equitable system of taxation, that the tax load must not only be levied where wealth is produced instead of against unproductive home property representing the hard-earned savings of the working man.

As ratepayers we pledge you our full support, and to bend our entire will to organized action to support the tax on unearned increment wherever produced, with the goal in view that the home shall be tax-free, sacred and inviolate to its occupant forever—a goal surely worth striving for, so that the unfortunate unemployed, and others, unable to pay their taxes, may remain in peaceful untroubled possession of their homes.

If the provincial government should ignore your appeal for such a tax levy as you propose we will support you, the ratepayers are still in possession of sovereign rights which may be exercised by organized effort and popular expression by the privileged means of the ballot; for we Anglo-Saxons have not yet arrived at the stage of plutocratic dictatorship where this British traditional privilege may be denied our people with impunity.

And we furthermore pledge you our support by the free distribution of illustrated charts and literature in such quantities as will convince a majority of our citizens of the imperative need of such action, if they wish to save their homes.

The figures for high water serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where banks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot measured from the average level of low water.

LEAF DISPLAY COMING HERE

C.P.R. Bringing Prize-Winning Maple Leaves Across Canada

Vancouver, Feb. 7.—Some of the prize-winning specimens in the nation-wide "most beautiful maple leaf" contest conducted by the Canadian Pacific Railway went on exhibition at the rotunda of Hotel Vancouver yesterday, being placed there by Duncan McMurray, C.P.R. display agent, who brought them from the east.

The exhibit, showing examples of Canada's national emblem in their autumnal tints, is of particular interest to British Columbians. It was the huge leaf submitted by Alexander, a literally thousands of leaves reaped in on Montreal headquarters of the C.P.R. during the maple leaf contest.

Mr. McMurray stated, and large numbers of people gained employment in the selection, cataloguing, mounting and framing of the various winners. The exhibit will be taken to Victoria about the middle of the month and displayed there, probably at the Empress Hotel.

NEW CODE FOR FISH INDUSTRY

Juneau, Feb. 7.—A code of fair competition for the canned salmon industry, which has been forwarded to Washington, D.C., for consideration, was made public to-day by Deputy NRA Administrator Wade.

Before the code can be made effective hearings must be held. The tentative draft establishes a minimum rate of pay for the cannery workers not receiving board and lodging of thirty-five cents an hour and a forty-eight-hour working week for most employees with fifty-six hours for certain classes of labor.

It seeks to eliminate the old "Oriental labor" contract system, requires employers to pay "imported" labor from the day they sail from the south until they return to the port of embarkation and requires cannery men in Alaska to give as far as practicable preference to Alaska workers.

The code establishes an authority of eleven persons, two members from plants in the Columbia River district of Oregon and Washington and one to Cape Flattery, two for Puget Sound, two for southeastern Alaska, two for Central Alaska and two for western Alaska. The eleventh member will be selected by the first ten.

Japanese Firm Buys U.S. Ship

Seattle, Feb. 7.—On her final voyage, the steamship Cacique, former Grace liner, sailed yesterday for Japan, where she will complete her cargo.

The vessel, recently purchased by a Japanese firm, is under the command of Capt. S. Sayeki, who with his crew came from the Orient to take over the ship.

With all her space booked to capacity the Cacique is rounding out a career of many years on the sea under the most favorable auspices by sailing with filled holds.

Under the terms of the purchase the vessel must be broken up after her arrival at Japan. Details of her purchase and her subsequent loading were handled by the United Ocean Transport Company, who are including her among their February ships.

WRITES BOOK ON AIRWAYS

Sir Harry Brittain's New Book "By Air" Sent Out By Mail Planes to Distant Places

London, Feb. 7.—Another record has just been established in the speed of transport by air. Not long ago Sir Harry Brittain, K.B.E., C.M.G., flew 16,000 miles by Imperial Airways, from London through to Capetown and back, in order to describe his experiences in the book he has just published, entitled "By Air," and in which he pays a warm tribute to the speed, reliability, and comfort of the air mail.

It was thought appropriate that a number of copies of Sir Harry's book, dealing as it does with the benefits to be derived from air travel, should be despatched by air mail for review purposes, to the editors of journals in cities along the empire air lines, and it is believed the adoption of this plan gives the book the distinction of being the first to go out by air, for review, to destinations thousands of miles from England.

One of the fruits of this high-speed method of dispatch has already become apparent. A copy of "By Air," which left the Croydon airport one morning recently, was delivered nine days later to the editor of a South African journal more than 7,000 miles distant from London. The book was promptly read, and a comprehensive review of it prepared.

This review—extremely eulogistic in its terms—was printed as soon as possible in the journal in question, and copies containing it were despatched by air mail to Sir Harry Brittain in London. These he duly received, the whole operation being accomplished with such rapidity, thanks to the speed of the flying mail, that the book was airborne from England to South Africa, read and reviewed there, and copies of this review transmitted to London, all within a period of twenty-four days!
